PIPGRAS FACES ROOT IN THIRD SERIES BATTLE

Right-Handers Named as Series Scene Shifts to Chicago Grounds.

YANKS 10-1 CHOICE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Cub Fans Confident Team Will Regain Form in Games at Home.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30.—Chicago welcomed its Cubs to the home hearth today, bravely hiding the doubt in a hearty civic handshake that preceded the resumption of the world series tomorrow with the Yankee menace from the East.

The arrival of the baseball hegira from New York was the signal for this midwestern metropolis to claim again its battered and bruised National League champions with a demonstration at the La Salle street station that allowed no thought of the two stunning defeats in New York. The thousands turned out for all the Cubs to see the faith of the city's fans and feel the figurative pat on the back that was to reassure them of better things in this world series beginning with the third game on the morrow.

Home Games Awaited.

Chicago, which watched the Cubs make a sensational drive to the National League pennant in the last weeks of the season, has been told by every medium of news dispatch, how the terrible Yankees from New York have cleaned up its favorites in the first two games, but Chicago is waiting to view with its own eyes at Wrigley Field the trend of the battle before an abiding faith in the Cubs is enveloped completely in misgivings.

On the slightly stooped shoulders and venerable arm of Charley Root Chicago will hang its pitching hopes tomorrow, and, barring a last minute change in managerial strategy, it will be Root vs. Pipgras in the third game of the world series. This was the decision of Managers Charlie Grimm and Joe McCarthy immediately following the second game in New York, and there has been no intimation of a digression from these plans.

Thus the opposing managers are forced to turn from their superstars of the mound to the second flight of their pitchers, with Ruffing, Gomez, Bush and Warneke already gone to the wars and unavailable for duty in the third game. It marks the first contest in which the presence of a pitching hero has not dominated the pregame outlook.

McCarthy Has Allen.

McCarthy does have available his sensational rookie, Johnny Allen, he of seventeen victories and four defeats in his first full year in the majors, but world series tradition, that runs red with the blood of rookie pitchers, forbids Allen's use in a starting role, barring dire necessity.

Grimm is beginning to bemoan his lack of a left-hander to toss in against the Yankee array that includes such southpaw sluggers as Combs, Ruth, Gehrig, Sewell and Dickey, who have a combined batting average of .441 against the right-handed pitching that the Cubs have been forced to use in the first two games of the series. It is significant, perhaps, that these five lead all the rest of the Yankees in the composite batting averages.

There was a suspicion that Grimm would turn to Pierce Malone, mountainous right-hander of the burning fast ball, but Malone has not carried on this season as in the past, and

2 WOMEN HOSTAGES IN HOLDUP ARE SHOT

Customer and Employe Are Made Bullet Shields by Bank Robbers.

Wahpeton, N. D., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Shielded by two women hostages, both of whom were wounded, five bandits raced through a gauntlet of gunfire and escaped after looting a local bank of $5,800 today.

The victims emphasized "the courtesy" of the outlaws as they talked from the hospital beds tonight, saying their captors repeatedly reminded them that vigilantes' shots caused their wounds.

"They said it was terrible to shoot women," said Miss Doris Stock, 20, deputy county superintendent of schools, a customer in the Citizens National Bank when the raiders entered. She was the more seriously hurt.

Miss Ruth Whipps, 30, a bank bookkeeper, wounded in the thigh, told how, after the outlaws had dropped them at an abandoned farm shack following a wild 25-mile dash over country roads with one of the women still clinging to a running board, one said:

"Take good care of her (meaning Miss Stock). You can get help at a farm somewhere near, and keep her in the shade."

Both were found when occupants of a pursuing car slowed down because of a flat tire and came within earshot of the women who had been hidden behind the shack. There, hysterical from their experiences and weakened by loss of blood, they cried feebly for help.

Firing on the bandit car even with women exposed from the running boards apparently occurred, officers said, because townspeople recalled that in the first of six bandit raids in North Dakota this month, two women participated.

Two Bandits Rob Bank, Despite Guard Nearby

Oswego, Ill., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Two robbers entered the Oswego State Bank today, ordered George Ament, president, and Miss Ida Wood, cashier, to lie on the floor and escaped with $1,500 in a Sedan driven by an accomplice, without attracting the attention of a bank guard stationed next door.

CHICAGO HOLDS OLD-TIME FETE FOR ROOSEVELT

Torchlight Procession of "Gay Nineties" His Welcome.

CANDIDATE PRAISES WISCONSIN LIBERALS

Attendance at Series Game to Precede Speech and Start East Today.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Chicago Democrats welcomed Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight with a torchlight parade and all the other "gay nineties" political trappings.

The governor stepped from his special train at 9 p. m., after a two-hour run from Milwaukee, smiled at the din which echoed to the rafters of the Union Station, and went out into the midst of what the Democrats called the greatest political demonstration in the history of Chicago.

Even if the Democrats were exaggerating, it was one of the most spectacular political affairs Chicago has witnessed since the Bull Moose days of 1912 when another Roosevelt, Theodore, was the honored guest.

Twenty-five thousand citizens surged over the cobblestones around the station. They beat tin pans, blew horns, shouted and waved.

Calliopes and Torches.

Six brass bands tooted the same "Hail, Hail the Gang" that heralded the coming of presidential candidates of the last century. Members of one band even wore white silk hats, resurrected from the limbo of an almost forgotten past.

Two steam calliopes played popular tunes.

Torch bearers with oil cloth capes to keep the soot off their collars were there. Skittishly they waved their flaming cans of kerosene on the end of long poles; it had been years since they had even seen campaign torches.

The red light men in linen dusters, looking for all the world like ghosts of 30 years ago, carried their hissing flares. Some flaunted tradition by carrying green lights.

One hundred and fifty police on horses proved the equine display. The horses shied at the flashing lights, but paid no attention to the cacophony of the bands.

Sees Series Game Today.

Had it not been for the shiny automobiles and the skyscrapers which were outlined waveringly in the passing lights, the whole scene might have been lifted bodily from the time of the Blaines and the Mark Hannas.

Mayor Anton J. Cermak and other Democratic leaders who went to Milwaukee to meet the Democratic presidential nominee, accompanied him in an automobile at the head of the parade.

There was an informal reception at the Congress Hotel. The governor, Mrs. Roosevelt and members of their party then retired. The Roosevelts will drive to the home of their old friend, J. L. Houghteling, in suburban Winnetka tomorrow.

After luncheon Gov. Roosevelt will attend the third game of the world

Peru Asks Arbitration In Row With Colombia

Lima, Peru, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Peru proposed to Colombia tonight that arbitration be resorted to for settlement of the dispute over the seizure of the Colombian city of Leticia by Peruvian citizens.

In a note sent to the Lima government Wednesday Colombia urged a peaceful settlement of the controversy. Leticia, ceded to Colombia in the boundary treaty of 1922, was seized September 1. Colombia has contended that Peruvian troops took part in the seizure.

Indictment Returned On Wardman Bonds

Identity of Those Named in Charges of Fraud in Sale of Securities by Halsey, Stuart & Co. Hidden Pending Arrests.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An indictment charging use of the mails to defraud was returned today by the Federal grand jury which for two days has been inquiring into the sale of bonds of Wardman Properties, Inc., now in default by Halsey, Stuart & Co.

The indictment presented to Federal Judge F. A. Geiger was a bulky document. The identity of those indicted will not be revealed until arrests are made. The indictment was voted under a section of the United States criminal code which provides maximum penalties of five years' imprisonment and a fine of $1,000.

H. L. Stuart is president of the Halsey, Stuart & Co. and is in charge of its main office in Chicago. His brother, C. B. Stuart, is in charge of the New York office. Other offices are in Philadelphia, Detroit, Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

The Halsey, Stuart Co. underwrote and sold an issue of $13,500,000 in Wardman Properties bonds floated to refinance 11 apartments, hotels and other buildings in Washington, D. C. Selling originally at $100, the bonds defaulted in interest and principal a year ago and are now quoted at $10.

A United States Senate investigation was started when the bonds defaulted and Federal investigators for months had been looking into the issue and its sale. Forest A. Harness, special Assistant Attorney General, came from Washington to present the case to the grand jury.

About 25 witnesses, including employes and former employes of Halsey, Stuart & Co. and several Wisconsin residents who bought part of nearly $200,000 worth of bonds sold in this area, were called before the grand jury. The case was presented here because of numerous complaints from Wisconsin investors.

The Government's contention, it was understood, was that fraud in sale of the bonds occurred when they were sold to investors believing in their strength while the Wardman companies were failing financially.

ROOSEVELT'S POLICY ATTACKED BY MILLS

Says Democratic Nominee Has Misrepresented Position of Hoover.

St. Louis, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, addressing a Republican rally here tonight, accused Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, of "openly and directly" misrepresenting the position of President Hoover, in Roosevelt's address at Sioux City, Iowa.

The Secretary of the Treasury took particular exception to a statement by Gov. Roosevelt that he had read in the newspapers "that for the first time the administration of President Hoover has discovered the fact that there is such a thing as a farm mortgage."

"I have and I shall continue to treat Gov. Roosevelt with all the courtesy to which he is entitled as a candidate for a great office," said Secretary Mills, "but as such he is expected to observe the proprieties. In practically every speech he has made he has covertly and slyly misrepresented the position of the President of the United States.

"Last night he did so openly and directly. This will not do. The American people will not tolerate it."

Chilean Rebels Win Sharp Engagement

Vignola Supporters Claim They Will D minate Entire North.

Antofagasta, Chile, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Provincial troops sent to Iquique and Arica to align that region with the rebellion against the federal government of Provisional President Bartolome Blanche clashed with loyal troops today and it was reported 20 soldiers were killed and many wounded. Information reaching here was that the rebels won the engagement.

The rebel troops, supporters of Gen. Pedro Vignola, who mthe federal government attempted to remove as commander of the northern garrison, were assisted by volunteers, 15,000 of whom were recruited in Antofagasta.

Vignola supporters predicted that by tomorrow they would dominate the entire north of Chile. They asserted they had been informed that dozens of government officials in southern Chile had disavowed the Blanche regime, and on the basis of these reports they declared that within 48 hours the provisional president would be ousted.

WATER SUPPLY QUIZ DUE IN MONTGOMERY

Investigation to Be Asked at Meeting of Civic Federation.

Appointment of an inquisitorial committee of six to cooperate with similar groups from the Bethesda and Silver Spring Chambers of Commerce in a thorough investigation of the water situation in Montgomery County will be recommended at the meeting of the Montgomery County Civic Federation, October 10, in the Bethesda School.

The executive and advisory committees of the federation have approved a motion urging such action, and the motion will be presented at the meeting. The federation recently adopted a resolution condemning a series of articles on the water situation in suburban Maryland which were published in The Washington Post.

The motion is sponsored by the two chambers of commerce, which also condemned the series as unwarranted. Under the terms of the resolution, President Frederic P. Lee will be empowered to appoint six members to cooperate with the chambers in the probe.

The committee will interview citizens of the county suburban areas regarding the water received in their

Pablo Herrera de la Huerta, now counselor to the Mexican Embassy at Washington, was named minister to El Salvador. Fernando Pesquira, consul at Buenos Aires, was transferred to San Antonio, Tex., to succeed Consul Eduardo Hernandez Chazaro, resigned.

Alabama Senate Votes To Relax State Dry Act

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—A house bill to modify Alabama's prohibition law to the extent that the sale of near beer would be permitted was passed by the senate today. It will be sent to Gov. Miller for his signature if the house concurs in a minor Senate amendment.

As amended, it would legalize near beer of one half of one per cent alcohol.

AL SMITH CALLS FORGOTTEN MAN POLITICAL MYTH

Threat of Warfare With Roosevelt Forces Is Seen in Article.

LACK OF HARMONY IN PARTY STRESSED

Repeats View Best Interests of U. S. Would Be Served if Democrats Win.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

A threat of open warfare between the Smith and Roosevelt forces in the Democratic party was sounded yesterday by Editor Alfred E. Smith in his first political contribution to the New Outlook.

"The forgotten man is a myth and the sooner he disappears from the campaign the better it will be for the country," Mr. Smith said in concluding an editorial significantly headed "The Forgotten Man."

Nowhere in his text did Mr. Smith mention the name of either Gov. Roosevelt or Speaker Garner, but he did repeat the statement made in New York soon after the national convention, that "the best interests of the country will be served by the success of the Democratic party."

Says Harmony Needed.

In qualification of this declaration, however, the 1928 presidential nominee warned that the party must soon set its own house in order.

"It must be admitted that the party is not united and that it is composed of a number of conflicting elements and interests," he wrote.

"With some of the elements and forces in the party, I am completely out of sympathy, not for personal reasons, but because I believe they are inimical to the best interests of the country. In my opinion, the Democratic party must purge itself of these influences if it is to serve the Nation in this crisis."

The Forgotten Man, so far as he figures in the present campaign, is the creation of Gov. Roosevelt. Mr. Smith's broadside against him came as a bombshell in political circles.

Forgotten Man Broadside.

"We should stop talking about the Forgotten Man and about class distinctions," Mr. Smith said. "There is no other country in the world where individual initiative counts for so much, where opportunities to rise are so great, and where class prejudice is so unimportant. In no other country is there so little evidence of economic class hatred, so little encouragement of the Communist, the Fascist, or the Junker, and such responsible, farsighted and loyal leadership of labor.

"Just now all our people are in trouble. The old rich are the new poor. What is needed in the crisis of today is the united cooperation of all good citizens of whatever class or creed to fight our way out of the bog of depression to the solid ground of

Risley Speaks in Place Of Hurley in Kentucky

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Announcement that Theodore Risley, a solicitor for the Labor Department in Washington, would speak at Corbin tonight in place of Secretary of War Hurley was made at Republican State headquarters here today.

The War Secretary left Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday for Washington, where, it was announced, he had notified the Republican speakers' bureau some time ago he would not fill the Corbin engagement. The bureau, however, had been trying to get him to change his mind until the last minute.

R.F.C. CASH TO BACK FARM RELIEF DRIVE

Mortgage Moratorium Not to Be Part of Plan That Is Mapped at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Henry Robinson, of Los Angeles, chairman of the farm mortgage conference convened at the urging of President Hoover, announced as the session closed late today that "the whole power of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is to be thrown back of the agencies which lend money and receive farm mortgages."

"The policy of these united groups will be to help the farmer keep his farm," Robinson added.

There will be no moratorium on farm mortgages, a formal statement that he issued revealed, but the net results of the plan, it was explained, will be to ease credit restrictions on farmers.

The statement followed the close of a two-day meeting preceded by others in Washington and New York called to discuss the farm mortgage situation and which brought together representatives of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Department of Agriculture, the Federal Farm Loan Banks, the Joint Stock Land Banks, insurance companies and the twelve banking and industrial committees of the country appointed by the Federal Reserve District governors.

Lindbergh Suspect Seized in Bay State

Employer Says, However, Man Was at Work for Him at Time.

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—John D. Grainger, 25, of Laconia, N. H., was held here today while police investigated his knowledge of the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby and the slaying of a North Carolina deputy sheriff.

Although the investigation continued, Charles J. Pitman, a police commissioner of Laconia and an official of the Pitman Manufacturing Co., said Grainger could have had no connection with the Lindbergh case as he was working in the Pitman plant at the time of the kidnaping.

BURKE OUSTER BY GLASSFORD IS CHALLENGED

Legality of Act Studied by Corporation Counsel's Office.

INSPECTOR FORCED TO ASK RETIREMENT

Contest May Be Obviated if His Request Is Not Withdrawn.

The legality of the action of Superintendent of Police Pelham D. Glassford in forcing Assistant Superintendent Frank S. W. Burke to apply for retirement under threat of relieving him of command of the Detective Bureau was being questioned last night by the office of the corporation counsel.

In the opinion of the District legal advisers, only the Commissioners may remove an assistant superintendent of police, because only the Commissioners can appoint one, so that Gen. Glassford, by his action, arrogated to himself a function which was distinctly one assigned to the Commissioners.

However, the action of Inspector Burke in applying for a retirement, it was pointed out, may obviate any contest as to the validity of Glassford's action. If Inspector Burke should withdraw his request, it was said, Gen. Glassford would have to submit any proposal to reduce him to the Commissioners.

Surprise Move.

The virtual ouster of the veteran policeman, Inspector Burke, threw a bombshell into the department, which has been subject to such periodic surprises since the beginning of Gen. Glassford's regime. Under the police head's plans, Capt. Edward J. Kelly, former assistant chief of detectives, is to be transferred from the Third Precinct to the Crime Prevention Bureau, effective today. Upon the retirement of Inspector Burke, he is to be given command of the Detective Bureau, with the rank of assistant superintendent.

If Gen. Glassford's plans become effective, another upheaval in the Detective Bureau will occur when Capt. Kelly takes command. One of Gen. Glassford's complaints is that there are some inefficient men in the bureau.

However, Gen. Glassford said, "Inspector Burke is a fine officer and a good chief of detectives." It was recalled that when Inspector Burke recommended the transfer of four men from the bureau to improve its efficiency, Gen. Glassford, yielding to pressure brought upon him by friends of the officers, refused to ratify Inspector Burke's suggestions to improve the efficiency of the bureau.

Urged to Fight Ouster.

Influential members of the Washington Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce and other civic leaders, Inspector Burke said, have prevailed upon him to fight the ouster, and thus precipitate an issue between the District Commissioners and Gen. Glassford, who have been at odds for several months.

"I could not work under any person who has no confidence in me. All I can say is that it is a hell of a way

The present registration was announced today as 125,048 Democrats against 33,596 in 1930 and 75,361 in 1928. The present Republican registration totaled 143,953 against 185,768 in 1930 and 164,935 in 1928.

Officer, Monoxide Victim, Is Rescued

Policeman Rushes Allen, Retired Marine Captain, to Sanitarium.

Capt. James T. Allen, retired Marine officer, of 32 Denwood avenue, Takoma Park, Md., probably owes his life today to the quick thinking yesterday of County Policeman Joseph B. Nolte when the former was found unconscious from monoxide gas in his car. The automobile was standing in the garage, with the motor running.

Nolte, summonded by Mrs. Ethel Allen, wife of the officer, decided there was no time to wait for the appearance of a physician and rushed Capt. Allen to the Washington Sanitarium, in Takoma Park.

Quick use of a respirator and the oxygen tanks at the sanitarium revived Capt. Allen. He said he was cleaning his machine when overcome by the gas.

U. S. Cafeterias Necessity, Federal Officials Assert

Department and Bureau Heads Say Effects on Welfare and Efficiency of Workers Justify Continuance of Establishments Under Fire.

By ROBERT F. WHITNEY.

There is a unanimity of opinion among the officials of the various governmental departments, bureaus and agencies in Washington in which cafeterias are operated that the contribution of these eating places to the welfare and efficiency of the Federal employes privileged to use them justifies their existence and the manner in which they are administered.

It is argued in every case that, due to either isolation or concentration, the half-hour lunch period makes an eating place within a Federal building a necessity if all the employes are to secure good wholesome food in the time allowed them.

These arguments of efficiency and welfare are discounted by Representative Shannon, of Missouri, who heads the House committee which, in the investigation of Government competition with private business, has struck at the operation of restaurants in Federal buildings here. In a recent speech, he said:

"In all these Government activities, I may remind you that there are still two words that have been and still

Baby Seared by Hot Grease Is Near Death in Hospital

14-Month-Old Girl Is Victim of Accident at Home.

Seared from head to foot by the contents of a pan of hot grease, Gladys Jerman, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Jerman, of 2315 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, lay near death in Children's Hospital last night.

Mrs. Jerman had just finished her daily after-supper duties, she said, and removed the pan from the stove and placed it on a small table across the room.

She had hardly turned her back, Mrs. Jerman related, when Gladys toddled in. She was just able to reach the table top and succeeded in overturning the pan.

Taken to Columbia Hospital, the baby was given first aid and transferred to Children's Hospital.

TAMMANY DECIDES TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Will Also Support Lehman for Governor and Walker for Mayor.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Despite a tangled political situation, Tammany Hall and its allies were said tonight by a leader high in organization politics to have agreed to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for President, Herbert H. Lehman for governor and James J. Walker for mayor.

The statement was made after the Democratic city organization had denied renominations to two of Gov. Roosevelt's appointees to the supreme court, and in the place of one of them nominated a Republican.

Lehman is Gov. Roosevelt's own choice for the gubernatorial nomination at next week's Democratic State convention.

Walker, when he resigned at the height of ouster proceedings before Gov. Roosevelt, said he was leaving his case "in the hands of the voters."

Mayoralty Election Ordered.

Since then the appelate division of the supreme court has ruled that a mayoralty election must be held November 8, and a city-wide Democratic convention has been called for next Thursday, the day Walker expects to return from a European cruise.

In the face of a situation which brought widespread speculation, James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, and also head of the party's State committee, declared:

"Nothing has happened to change my opinion that Gov. Roosevelt will carry New York State by more than 725,000."

Other leaders at national headquarters said they were convinced Tammany would go through with its Roosevelt-Lehman-Walker program.

The Sun said:

"Curry (John F. Curry, Tammany chief) is now convinced that Roosevelt is going to be elected and is skillfully grabbing the opportunity to ride into office in New York on the wave."

McKee Ready to Run.

The Post reported learning authoritatively that Walker would be the Tammany candidate for mayor, but added:

"The open fight between Gov. Roosevelt and Tammany gives Republicans a better chance to carry New York State."

The World-Telegram said Joseph V. McKee, who succeeded Walker as mayor, "is ready to run as an independent" candidate for mayor in the event his predecessor is named by the organization.

McKee is a non-Tammany Democrat from Bronx County, where Edward J. Flynn, Roosevelt's secretary of state, is leader.

Flynn, who has been with Roosevelt on his Western tour, was quoted as saying on his way back to New York that his county had been denied its right of one of the judicial nominations.

Justice Samuel I. Roseman, one of the Roosevelt appointees denied nomination by Tammany, was from Flynn's section of the city.

Smith Supports Lehman.

The Sun said:

"The repudiation of Flynn, Roosevelt's personal representative in the city Democracy, is Tammany's ultimatum to Mayor McKee and his kind of economy and reform, which has created somewhat of a panic in the army of city officeholders and startled New York into a realization of what can be done in the city hall.

"Tammany wants no more of the McKee brand of city government and is willing to stake everything to end it."

At "Al" Smith's office it was said the former governor had made no change in his plan to place Lehman's name in nomination, but that he does not at present intend to support Walker for mayor.

Smith, like Walker, is a member of Tammany. Both have their followings within the organization. At least once in the past they have been on opposite sides of the bench on inter-organization matters.

Two Admirals Retire Today on Reaching 64

Mandatory retirement because of age today will affect two of the Navy's admirals—Charles B. McVay, jr., and William C. Cole. Both are 64 years old.

Commissioners Answer Discrimination Charge

Answering a charge made by the Rev. H. R. Randolph, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion Church, that colored applicants for jobs in the Police Department are being discriminated against, the District Commissioners yesterday wrote him a letter stating that all appointments are made from names certified by the Civil Service Commission, with "no distinction as to color.

The minister had complained that there are only 40 colored policemen on the District force, as against 1,000 white policemen. The writer points out that there were formely 43 colored men in the department and that 16 vacancies now remain to be filled.

good American enterprise and prosperity.

"The Forgotten Man is a myth and the sooner he disappears from the campaign the better it will be for the country."

Simultaneously with Editor Smith's first issue, reports from New York City told of a new drive by Tammany forces to challenge the Roosevelt leadership in New York at the State convention early in October.

Following an appellate court decision decreeing a mayoralty election in New York City in November, former Mayor James J. Walker is hastening home from Italy. Reports in New York yesterday were that Walker would be sustained by the Democratic State convention if former Gov. Smith would go along.

This would mean a direct test of strength between the Smith and Roosevelt forces in the convention.

The convention is to be held at Albany next Thursday.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

Chicago—Chicago & North Western Railway will put 200 men to work in the Chicago car shops Monday. Only a skeleton force has been employed for several months.

Hammond, Ind.—The New York Central placed 50 men at work in the car shops here Thursday, will add 50 more Monday and expects to keep them at work indefinitely, repairing grain cars, E. M. Wilcox, master car builder, said.

Duquesne, Pa.—The Union Railroad Co. will resume operations in the car repair shop here October 10 with 150 men working part time. The locomotive repair shop at Hall, Pa., will operate the rest of the year with 185 men working part time.

Coffeyville, Kans.—The Missour Pacific Railroad during September added 300 workmen on the Central and Southern Kansas divisions. It was said at division headquarters that the added employment, which was exclusive of the addition of an undetermined number of trainmen, was the greatest increase in two years.

LEGALITY OF BURKE OUSTER BY GLASSFORD QUESTIONED

to end 30 years' service," Inspector Burke said.

At first, Gen. Glassford would give no reason for his mandate to Burke to either retire or be reduced.

"I consider it an administrative matter," he said.

"Don't you think that the District taxpayers, who pay approximately $600,000 a year to retired officers, have a right to know the reason why you add another salary which they must pay?" he was asked.

"That's a logical question," interposed Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, who was standing nearby.

Efficiency Move.

"For the sake of efficiency," Glassford replied.

Asked how he could reconcile the characterization of Inspector Burke as a "fine officer and a good chief of detectives" with his reason for action against the chief of detectives, he said:

"I think Capt. Kelly would make a better chief of detectives."

Gen Glassford was asked whether he could give a specific case of inefficiency on the part of Inspector Burke.

"Some of his men are inefficient."

"Didn't he ask to have some inefficient men transferred and you refused to ratify his suggestion."

"That was because the recommendations were made public before I saw them."

On one occasion, Gen. Glassford said, he asked Inspector Burke to place a screen in a room where detectives view criminals. This was not done promptly, Gen. Glassford said. This was the only instance of lack of "efficiency" on the part of Inspector Burke, cited by the police head.

Those in close contact with Police Department affairs attribute the breach between Inspector Burke and Gen. Glassford to the former's opposition to the creation of a Crime Prevention Bureau, which was one of the ideas which Gen. Glassford introduced.

Burke's Opposition.

At the time this project was discussed at headquarters, Inspector Burke, basing his judgment on 30 years of experience in the Police Department, said it was a waste of men and money, to place 40 men in a bureau the functions of which could be adequately executed by a squad of five.

Gen. Glassford, however, went ahead with the idea. After several months trial, the police head reduced the personnel. Now there are only half of the original number in the bureau and Gen. Glassford yesterday ordered it cut to sixteen men. The cost of operating this innovation which he inaugurated woud amount to $100,000 a year, in salaries alone.

Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby was entirely unaware of Gen. Glassford's intention to remove Inspector Burke.

"It's all news to me," said Commissioner Crosby.

To obviate any question as to the legality of his action, Gen. Glassford said last night he would ask the District Commissioners to affirm his action. Commissioner Crosby has enunciated a policy of not interfering with administrative matters.

In view of the strained relations between the District Commissioners and Gen. Glassford since the bonus riots, it is a question whether the Commissioners would assent to Glassford's request to reduce Inspector Burke, if the chief of detectives chose to fight his ouster.

Notice to Burke.

The memorandum to Inspector Burke read:

"You are hereby given opportunity to apply for retirement as assistant superintendent of police, Metropolitan Police, commanding the Detective Bureau; otherwise you will be relieved from the command of the Detective Bureau and assigned temporarily to police headquarters, with the rank of inspector."

In reply Inspector Burke said:

"To the Major and Superintendent:

"Guided by your memorandum of this date, giving me the option of retiring or being reduced, I hereby formally apply for retirement. I have approximately 30 years of service in police work, records for all of which are available in your office.

"It is most gratifying to know, as you said in our conversation at noon today, that you considered me an excellent officer and a capable one, and that there had been no complaint of any kind against me. You say that in your judgment you believe that the efficiency of the Detective Bureau can be increased by the change and I bow to your judgment and appreciate your permitting me to retire at my present grade.

"I can not help but observe that during my year and a quarter as chief of detectives, during which period I believe we have had the greatest volume and variety of crime in our history, our bureau has functioned more than reasonably well, which fact is probably gauged best by the fact that during that period there has been no adverse criticism of the manner of conducting the office, whereas, prior to my assignment here, there had been serious and continued criticism. This in spite of the fact, too, that I inaugurated a series of changes in operation, which was distasteful to many members of the bureau, but which changes, I feel satisfied, have resulted in a more efficient detective service, and in spite of the fact also that for some months past the personnel of this bureau was considerably reduced by details to other services.

Expresses Surprise.

"As I told you many months ago, if for any reason you did not have full confidence in me, then I could be of no use to you or our department. I still feel that way about it, and since you have indicated that you probably have lost confidence in me here, then I can realize that my usefulness to you and the department is at an end.

"I can not help but feel surprised, however, at the very apparent change in attitude since day before yesterday when you came into my office to discuss certain things you had in mind. You surely indicated nothing else, but that my bureau, as well as myself, was functioning excellently.

"With best personal wishes for your success, permit me to remain.

"Respectfully,

"(Signed) FRANK S. W. BURKE,
"Assistant Superintendent,
"Commanding Detective Bureau."

Had Been on Sick Leave.

The mandate of Gen. Glassford came after Inspector Burke had returned from a sick leave. He had been ill at his home. The development yesterday placed Gen. Glassford's name back on the front pages from which it had receded after he challenged the accuracy of Attorney General Mitchell's report on the bonus riots.

Other announcements at headquarters yesterday were: The transfer of Capt. J. A. Sullivan to the Third Precinct; an order for further reductions of the personnel of the Crime Prevention Bureau; a proposed increase in the hack inspector's office. These followed closely on the orders removing Inspector O. T. Davis as head of the Crime Prevention Bureau, and the call of Inspector J. F. Beckett from the Second inspection district to headquarters.

Inspector Burke will appear before the board of examining surgeons on Tuesday. The police retirement board meets Thursday.

Firebug Is Sought In Series of Blazes

A series of fire alarms, sounding in rapid succession for more than two hours, last night sent screaming engines throughout the downtown section and caused police no little concern when it was reported that each blaze was the work of a "fire bug."

It was estimated that between ten and fifteen alarms were sent in during the course of the night. In each case the flames were confined to trash and fences and did little damage. Police broadcast a lookout for a colored man, who was reported to have been seen in the vicinity of each fire.

HOOVER LEADERSHIP PRAISED BY CURTIS

Sees New Prosperity Near in Talk in Oklahoma; Lays Slump to Democrats.

Ponca City, Okla., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Vice President Curtis said tonight that measures undertaken by the Hoover administration have placed America in a position whence the Nation would be able to start on a new and lasting period of prosperity.

"After every great war and after periods of wild speculation, hard times have followed," the Vice President said in an address. "We have gone through many such periods, but our people always have come out and gone forward.

"And each time the Nation has become stronger and more powerful until today it is the leading Nation of the world."

Cites Former Crises.

Curtis traced former times of economic stress through the history of the United States, starting with 1837 "when labor was out of employment, firms went out of business, half the factories in the East were closed, and it was said 5,008 men attacked the City Hall in Boston."

He referred to the winter of 1857 "when mobs paraded the streets of New York demanding bread and the Subtreasury was guarded by Federal troops," to 1893 when Coxey's army marched to Washington, to 1914 when he said the Vreeland-Aldrich act was used to prevent a panic, and in 1919 when "industrial production was at its bottom because of depression."

In the latest instance of depression, Curtis said, President Hoover at the outset took every step within governmental scope of power. He spoke of the President's conference of industrial leaders and of public work programs to provide employment.

Blames Democrats.

At Alva this afternoon the Vice President described the depression as "an evil inherited from policies of our friends on the other side," and preached the doctrine of a protective tariff before an overflow audience of farmers and stockmen in the Northwestern State Teachers College Auditorium.

The Underwood tariff bill, passed during the Wilson administration, the war President's veto of tariffs on farm products, and the "deflation policy of the Federal Reserve Board under the Democrats," were scored by the Vice President.

He was introduced by M. C. Garber, Republican, representative for the Eight District, "not as the Vice President of the United States, but as Charley Curtis, a common man and friend of the people."

Driving through a drizzling rain, the Curtis party was greeted by crowds at towns along the route.

Roosevelt Claims Ridiculed by Wood

Part of Candidate's Speech Branded as "Deliberate Misstatement."

(Associated Press.)

Referring to Gov. Roosevelt's Sioux City address, Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, said a statement issued through the Republican national committee yesterday said that the Democratic presidential nominee "shut his eyes to the facts."

"On finances he said that the present administration had been the greatest spending administration in peace times in all history," said the statement. "The only increase in expenditures by this administration has been to put men to work on public construction. * * *

"Gov. Roosevelt also said that President Hoover had added bureau upon bureau to the Federal establishment. That, of course, is a deliberate misstatement."

Washington Pageant Draws 10,000 to Fair at La Plata

Descendants of Friends of General Portray Characters in Presentation Seen by Members of Bicentennial Commission and Other Notables.

Special to The Washington Post.

La Plata, Md., Sept. 30.—Turning back the pages of history to the period from 1732 to 1797 for members of the Bicentennial Commission, State and county officials and more than 10,000 visitors, residents of Charles County today gave a pageant portrayal of Washington's life on the Tidewater Potomac entitled "Neighbor Washington," with many of the characters represented by descendants of friends of Washington. The pageant will be repeated tomorrow afternoon as a part of the program of the Charles County Fair.

"Neighbor Washington," written for the Charles County Bicentennial Association by Kathleen Read Koontz, of Washington, proved one of the most colorful of all the Bicentennial pageants given in this section, and the second performance tomorrow afternoon promises to bring together one of the largest crowds ever assembled in the county.

The narrative of the pageant is by Dr. James Craik, surgeon general of the Continental Army and Washington's closest friend, whose old home near La Plata is still a gathering place for lovers of history. He was impersonated by James Craik Mitchell, a great-great-grandson, prominent attorney of Charles County. Other characters taken by resident descendants were those of Thomas Stone, signer of the Declaration of Independence, with Bruce Matthews impersonating; Gen. Smallwood, Washington's chief of staff, by H. H. Hawkins; Richard Hanson Harrison, military secretary to Washington, by E. Lee Hanson; Dr. Gustavus Brown, personal physician to the Mount Vernon squire, was played by Jack Reeder, while Neighbor Washington was portrayed by John Mudd.

Among the scenes built wholly around southern Maryland are those of Washington dining with his friend, Dr. Brown, at Rose Hill, a property still in a splendid state of preservation; the Mount Vernon household attending the races at Benedict; "Marse Washington's people" welcoming him to his Maryland farm, and a meeting of the vestry of old Durham Episcopal Church, followed by the attendance at service of Washington and his family.

The Charles County Fair proper, which climaxes the years' work in agriculture and county activities, is one of the largest in point of exhibits and quality of products ever held in the county, and will continue throughout tomorrow.

Bay State G. O. P. Votes Repeal Plank

Hoover and Coolidge Send Messages to Party's Convention.

Boston, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Massachusetts Republicans in State convention here today declared in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment with the proviso that the saloon must not return.

The simple plank dealing with the subject contained only 31 words, and drew prolonged applause when read to the delegates in Symphony Hall, by Jay R. Benton, chairman of the resolutions committee and former attorney general.

President Hoover, in a message to the convention in answer to the telegraphed greeting of that body said:

"We have now entered a period of the campaign when every energy needs to be put forward to bring to the people an understanding of the principles and purpose of the Republican party."

A message from former President Coolidge urged party workers to more intensive organization work to insure victory in November.

R.F.C. BORROWERS NAMES WITHHELD

Corporation Protests That Publicity Has Caused "Serious Embarrassment."

(Associated Press.)

The bulky list of borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be withheld from public scrutiny at least until next week because of the protest against publicity lodged by the lending organization with the clerk of the House of Representatives.

South Trimble, the clerk, while studying the arguments presented, made public the letter of objection from Atlee Pomerene, chairman, and an accompanying brief by Morton G. Bogue, general counsel of the corporation. Both came to him Thursday, together with the monthly report covering August loans.

Serious Embarrassment Caused.

Mr. Pomerene contended that Trimble's publication of the July report—the first made to the House and Senate under provisions of the relief law—had caused "serious embarrassment" to borrowers, and had frightened off other potential loan seekers. Chairman Pomerene said:

"The publication of the July report caused serious embarrassment to a number of borrowers. It gave rise to much unjust criticism. Reports were circulated that some of the institutions borrowing were not in good financial condition, when they were perfectly sound. This resulted in withdrawals from some of the banks and other institutions. * *

"No good purpose is served by the publication of these names at this time, when, in a very short while, the House of Representatives can order it done if its members so wish."

"We also have reliable information," he wrote, "that other banks and financial institutions, including insurance companies, which were in need of funds and intended to apply to the corporation for loans, have refused to do so because they felt that publicity would do them great harm."

Will Withhold Data.

In a formal statement, Trimble said that in view of the corporation's request not to make the report public he felt "justified in withholding publication of the report until I have had an opportunity to carefully consider the (Bogue) opinion."

This document stated "the provisions of the act do not direct or authorize publication of these reports by the clerk, and do not permit him to afford the public the right of opportunity to inspect them."

"The relief act itself," continued the Bogue brief, "merely provides that the corporation shall submit monthly to the President and to the Senate and House of Representatives a report of its activities and expenditures. It is silent on the question whether these reports shall be made public by the President, the Senate or the House, or by the corporation itself.

"The act requires the reports to be submitted to the Secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the House of Representatives if those bodies are not in session. There is no direction to the secretary of the Senate or the clerk of the House to publish these reports."

R. F. C. AIDS HAWAII AND THREE STATES

Islands Granted $307,435; Louisiana, Nevada and New Mexico Listed.

(Associated Press.)

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday extended Federal relief into the Hawaiian Islands as well as to three States.

Loans were announced to care for the needy in two Hawaiian counties; three counties in Nevada; 35 parishes in Louisiana, and the entire State of New Mexico.

Hawaii was granted $307,435; Louisiana, $1,008,944; New Mexico, $80,800, and Nevada, $47,200 with a promise of more as soon as additional information is made available.

Gov. Judd of Hawaii had asked the corporation for $450,000 for relief work in the islands.

The Louisiana loan will be used in 35 parishes in which 42.58 per cent of the State's population lives, the announcement said. A loan of $1,096,084 to care for needs of another group of parishes was made on August 16.

In New Mexico, the corporation said, many farmers are reported in need of direct assistance because of low farm product prices. In one county 35 per cent of the farmers were reported to have lost their farms.

The three Nevada counties benefiting were Clark, Washoe and White Pine. In Clark County difficulty was reported because of stranded transients seeking employment at Hoover Dam. The corporation said that on receipt of additional data from White Pine and Washoe Counties, their needs would be considered further.

Will of "Mother" Jones Is Simple Document

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An undated document signed with the single word "Mother" was filed in Probate Court today to close the estate of the late Mary "Mother" Jones, organized labor's internationally known sympathizer, who died nearly two years ago at the age of 100. The will was filed in Probate Court by Edward Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor. It disposes of an estate valued at about $1,000 and names Nockels and John Fitzpatrick, veteran president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, as sole legatees.

Nockels said a few minor debts will be paid from the estate and the remainder used to erect a monument over "Mother" Jones' grave at Mount Olive, Ill. She died December 1, 1930, near Silver Spring, Md.

U. S. ATTACKS DAVIS TESTIMONY AT TRIAL

His Connection With Charity Balls and Alleged Lottery Is Under Fire.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Defense testimony to show Senator James J. Davis had no connection with the Moose organization department, which received $140,000 of the proceeds of two charity balls allegedly gleaned from lotteries, was attacked by the Government at an abbreviated session of the senator's trial today.

Joseph A. Jenkins testified under cross-examination that there was "never anything written" in connection with a deal by which he and Fred W. Jones are said to have taken over the organization department from the senator, director-general of the Loyal Order, for $670,000 in 1930.

"You just go right ahead and make it go," was what the Pennsylvania senator told Jenkins and Jones, the witness said. "I've given my life to this work and I want you to realize what you're taking over. You've got those children out in Mooseheart to take care of. If you fail the organization fails."

The organization department is in charge of enrolling new members and retains part of the initiation fees.

As for the money paid to this department by the propogation department, which ran the charity balls, Jenkins said the payment was to "reestablish the good will" of Theodore G. Miller, its head, because the balls were cutting into the profits of Jenkins' department.

The Government contends the money paid to the organization department in reality was paid to Davis.

Manslaughter Charged To Driver of Fatal Car

Machinist Shooting Assailant Is Sought

J. F. Morgan, Union Official, Accuses Former Navy Yard Worker.

While blood transfusions were resorted to yesterday to rally James F. Morgan, 51-year-old machinist's union official, from death's door, police sought unsuccessfully to arrest the man who fired six shots into his body early Thursday night.

Mr. Morgan himself has declared Harrison Kaiser, 42, former fellow worker at the navy yard, where the wounded man is employed now, was his assailant. Police surrounded his house in the Southeast section Thursday night. When a man approached the house from a lane running into the rear alley, a policeman challenged him and the man fled. Police are confident it was Kaiser.

Homicide squad detectives learned that a man named Kaiser, furloughed from the same shop at the navy yard that Mr. Morgan is employed in, had made statements blaming Mr. Morgan for his nonemployment. There was also said to be a disagreement over a union dues rebate between the two.

Queen Regina II Crowned At Piedmont Dairy Festival

5,000 Witness Pagentry of Coronation Marked by Color and Beauty.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., Sept. 30.—Radiant sky vied with the beauty of the Piedmont Dairy festival here today, held in an old Colonial setting. The festival centered around the crowning of Miss Anne Elizabeth Davies, of Clarendon, as Regina II, and installation of her maids of honor and other members of the court.

With more than 5,000 guests from the Piedmont section grouped around the throne, the queen, with the Monticello Guard of Charlottesville as honor guard and preceded by her maids of honor, Misses Virginia Bushong and Catherine Gosnell, of Arlington, little Anne Leachman Janney, of Alexandria, as crown bearer, and the 12 princesses representing the counties participating in the festival, entered.

She was presented to the people by the Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, rector of Dettingen Parish, Prince William County, who declared her the undoubted queen of the realm, whereupon she was loudly acclaimed by her subjects and given the oath of office. In the name and for the realm of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival Brig. Gen. William D. Mitchell, U. S. A., retired, of Middleburg, placed the crown upon her head. The solemnity of the coronation ended, the queen, wearing her crown and bearing the sceptre, marched to the place appointed to witness the pageant.

The train bearers were Mary Elizabeth Kerfoot and Marjorie Jean Weaver, of Arlington County, while other members of the court were: Princess Culpeper, Miss Sallie Ratrie; Princess Fauquier, Miss Charlotte Brown; Princess Fairfax, Miss Randolph Richardson; Princess Loudoun, Miss Mary Moore; Princess Madison, Miss Louise Kathryn Renalds; Princess Orange, Miss Hope Robertson; Princess Prince William, Miss Esther Warren Pattie; Princess Rappahannock, Miss Jessie Miller Jones; Princess Stafford, Miss Grace D. Moncure; Princess Spotsylvania, Miss Caroline Read; Princess District of Columbia, Miss Sylvia Meredith, and Princess-at-large, Miss Hilda Peck, of Fairfax.

The pageant "Night's Pasture Fields," carrying out the plans of the Festival to picture milk and its products as being of vast importance in preserving health, featured life, health and beauty, emphasizing the joy of living.

The "Milky Way" parade in the afternoon was one of the most colorful ever held in northern Virginia and with floats from the eleven counties in the Festival Association, civic organizations and women's clubs, 4-H Boys and Girls Clubs, Future Farmers of Virginia, County Granges, and a division of commercial floats, all preceded by the Marine Band of Quantico, with the Alexandria High School cadets, the Washington and Lee High School cadets, and students and clubs from all of the counties, the more than 10,000 visitors who lined the sidewalks cheered each unit as it marched or rode by. E. R. Conner and Melvin Hazen were marshals, while the Monticello guards, and county fire departments and 25 hunt club members mounted added color to the affair.

The festivities came to an end tonight with the Queen's ball, which was preceded by a march of the royal family to the seats of honor where before joining the host of dancers they reviewed the spectacle throughout a number of dances.

ROOSEVELT GIVEN OLD-TIME WELCOME IN CHICAGO PARADE

series at Wrigley Field and in the evening he will address a banquet at the Stevens Hotel. He will leave for the East at 11 p. m.

Milwaukee, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt came through an open-handed Wisconsin welcome today to crowded Eagles Hall to pay liberal praise to the way the State has demonstrated "the practical utility of liberal principles." He left at 7 p. m. for Chicago.

Thousands of Wisconsin citizens had caught a glimpse of the Democratic presidential candidate on his passage from Beloit through fertile dairy lands to the Milwaukee station, and on an hour's automobile drive through the city that brought him to Eagles Hall.

Gov. Roosevelt, escorted by James Roosevelt and a group of policemen, passed through and up a long ramp to the stage while a continuous wave of applause came from the several thousand packed into the hall and the gallery with its ornate circle of boxes.

Correcting Present Order.

Gov. Roosevelt said that "out here in Wisconsin you do not merely protest against the teachings of the present order, you set out to correct them. You set up standards to which liberals in all States have found it profitable and inspiring to repair. It is in this spirit that I speak to you today. I have been thinking about what these liberal principles of yours mean, in terms of actual legislative enactment, and I have tried to find out what seemed to be the essential principles behind them.

"These essential principles, as I see them, may in detail differ from the interpretation which others place upon them, but to me they suffice as an inspiring record of high ordered, intelligent political movement.

"In the first place, there is the principle of old party allegiance in its true perspective. The choice this fall is one which involves a purpose and a principle deeper than any party. It is one which I hope and believe is the fulfillment of the hopes that many persons have held and I have said repeatedly with most remarkable response that the Republican who believes in liberal principles, faced by the situation that now exists, can not fail to see that he has nothing in common with the blind reactionary spirit that characterizes the present administration in Washington.

"This refreshing freedom from the party lockstep is a Wisconsin habit I hope the habit continues."

Importance of Liberal Thought.

He praised the work of the State in regulating railroads and power, and added:

"Government not only must protect the rights of the individual by maintaining an interest in economic life, but it must extend the hand of aid and comfort whenever human values are at stake."

He spoke of the liberal principles of education he said had been maintained in the University of Wisconsin and concluded:

"These principles of liberal thought I hold to be of inestimable human importance. You have done much here in this State to give them human application. I respect you for having believed in them and worked toward them. They deserve universal application—universal respect."

He was introduced by F. Ryan Duffy, Democratic candidtae for senator, in a short talk in which Duffy said the Democrats of Wisconsin were united behind the New York Governor.

INSULL ROAD GOES INTO RECEIVERSHIP

Other Firms Paid $170,222 on Brokerage Accounts Investigators Claim.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Another Insull operating company went into receivership today while prosecutors, delving into the books of Middle West Utilities and Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment Co. reported evidence that they had paid off a $170,222 brokerage account for Martin J. Insull.

The Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad was the latest of the Insull transportation units to confess itself unable to meet expenses in a Federal court action.

So severe had the decline in business been that during the last eight months the electric line, operating between Chicago and Milwaukee, had not met operating costs, and even a loan of $1,150,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could not ward off receivership.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson appointed A. A. Sprague and Britton I. Budd receivers. Liabilities of the North Shore Line were estimated at $3,000,000 more than current assets, and the company consented to the petition filed by the American Brake Shoe and Foundry Co., a creditor.

The latest official purported revelation of the coverage of Insull personal accounts with withdrawals from the funds of their investment houses was made in a statement by State's Attorney John A. Swanson. The prosecutor said he discovered two checks, paying off the debts of Martin Insull to the brokerage firms of Russell, Brewster & Co. and Jackson Bros., Boesel Co. He did not comment as to what proceedings would be taken. Swanson began his investigation last week to determine whether criminal laws of Illinois had been violated in the Insull financing operations.

U.S. ATLANTIC FLEET TO STAY IN PACIFIC

Greater Degree of Training and Economy Held Cause of Time Extension.

(Associated Press.)

The Atlantic Fleet was ordered yesterday by the Navy Department to remain on the Pacific Coast for another six months, or until the completion of winter maneuvers.

This order was decided upon, Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, said, because it will be more economical and will permit a greater degree of training in conjunction with the Pacific Fleet.

The Atlantic Fleet was sent to the West Coast last March for maneuvers. It was then the intention to return it east in May, but at that time orders were issued for it to remain west until October.

Navy officials again said that plans for sending the fleet to the Pacific had been completed long before the Sino-Japanese hostilities began, and that the crisis had been passed before it was decided to keep the force on the West Coast.

In his statement directing the Atlantic Fleet, known as the scouting force, and its auxiliary, training squadron 1 of the base force, to remain in the San Pedro-San Diego area, Admiral Pratt said the maneuvers would be completed about March 20.

Ordinarily the maneuvers rotate between the Atlantic and Pacific Coast and the Panama Canal area. The Hawaiian Islands were included in the scope of last year's war games.

RIO GRANDE FLOOD CREATES BIG HAVOC

Seven Reported Drowned in Mexico; Brownsville Issues Warning.

Rio Grande City, Tex., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Seven persons tonight were reported drowned in northern Mexico by floods that spread over a vast area in the southern republic and the southwestern United States.

Torrential rains in the flooded region swelled the crooked, usually placid Rio Grande and its tributaries into dangerous activity.

In northern Mexico the floods were regarded as the most serious in 20 years. Railroad and highway travel was disrupted and thousands were in need of relief.

The Brownsville, Tex., Weather Bureau issued a flood warning saying water in sight at Rio Grande City would cause a rise equal, if not greater, than that of a month ago when numerous persons were drowned and property damage was estimated in millions.

Caution to safeguard lives and property in areas where levees were weak was advised. Residents of lowlands around Rio Grande City were evacuating their homes.

Water was flowing into a control floodway near McAllen. The water inundated sections of lowlands as it poured through a 100-foot gap torn in the levee by the last flood. The break had not been repaired.

Much concern was expressed over the San Juan River, which drains into the Rio Grande at Rio Grande City. Heavy rains on its watershed started it on a destructive rampage.

Six persons were known to have lost their lives at Heujutla, in the State of Hidalgo, and one death was reported from Monterrey. Thousands of head of live stock drowned. The Mexican federal congress has appropriated 80,000 pesos for relief in the stricken area.

William, of the speakers bureau of the local Democratic committee.

TAMMANY DECIDES TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Will Also Support Lehman for Governor and Walker for Mayor.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Despite a tangled political situation, Tammany Hall and its allies were said tonight by a leader high in organization politics to have agreed to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for President, Herbert H. Lehman for governor and James J. Walker for mayor.

The statement was made after the Democratic city organization had denied renominations to two of Gov. Roosevelt's appointees to the supreme court, and in the place of one of them nominated a Republican.

Lehman is Gov. Roosevelt's own choice for the gubernatorial nomination at next week's Democratic State convention.

Walker, when he resigned at the height of ouster proceedings before Gov. Roosevelt, said he was leaving his case "in the hands of the voters."

Mayoralty Election Ordered.

Since then the appelate division of the supreme court has ruled that a mayoralty election must be held November 8, and a city-wide Democratic convention has been called for next Thursday, the day Walker expects to return from a European cruise.

In the face of a situation which brought widespread speculation, James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, and also head of the party's State committee, declared:

"Nothing has happened to change my opinion that Gov. Roosevelt will carry New York State by more than 725,000."

Other leaders at national headquarters said they were convinced Tammany would go through with its Roosevelt-Lehman-Walker program.

The Sun said:

"Curry (John F. Curry, Tammany chief) is now convinced that Roosevelt is going to be elected and is skillfully grabbing the opportunity to ride into office in New York on the wave."

McKee Ready to Run.

The Post reported learning authoritatively that Walker would be the Tammany candidate for mayor, but added:

"The open fight between Gov. Roosevelt and Tammany gives Republicans a better chance to carry New York State."

The World-Telegram said Joseph V. McKee, who succeeded Walker as mayor, "is ready to run as an independent" candidate for mayor in the event his predecessor is named by the organization.

McKee is a non-Tammany Democrat from Bronx County, where Edward J. Flynn, Roosevelt's secretary of state, is leader.

Flynn, who has been with Roosevelt on his Western tour, was quoted as saying on his way back to New York that his county had been denied its right of one of the judicial nominations.

Justice Samuel I. Roseman, one of the Roosevelt appointees denied nomination by Tammany, was from Flynn's section of the city.

Smith Supports Lehman.

The Sun said:

"The repudiation of Flynn, Roosevelt's personal representative in the city Democracy, is Tammany's ultimatum to Mayor McKee and his kind of economy and reform, which has created somewhat of a panic in the army of city officeholders and startled New York into a realization of what can be done in the city hall.

"Tammany wants no more of the McKee brand of city government and is willing to stake everything to end it."

At "Al" Smith's office it was said the former governor had made no change in his plan to place Lehman's name in nomination, but that he does not at present intend to support Walker for mayor.

Smith, like Walker, is a member of Tammany. Both have their followings within the organization. At least once in the past they have been on opposite sides of the bench on inter-organization matters.

Mandatory retirement because of age today will affect two of the Navy's admirals—Charles B. McVay, jr., and William C. Cole. Both are 64 years old.

Commissioners Answer Discrimination Charge

Answering a charge made by the Rev. H. R. Randolph, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion Church, that colored applicants for jobs in the Police Department are being discriminated against, the District Commissioners yesterday wrote him a letter stating that all appointments are made from names certified by the Civil Service Commission, with "no distinction as to color.

The minister had complained that there are only 40 colored policemen on the District force, as against 1,000 white policemen. The writer points out that there were formely 43 colored men in the department and that 16 vacancies now remain to be filled.

SMITH RAPS MYTH OF FORGOTTEN MAN

good American enterprise and prosperity.

"The Forgotten Man is a myth and the sooner he disappears from the campaign the better it will be for the country."

Simultaneously with Editor Smith's first issue, reports from New York City told of a new drive by Tammany forces to challenge the Roosevelt leadership in New York at the State convention early in October.

Following an appellate court decision decreeing a mayoralty election in New York City in November, former Mayor James J. Walker is hastening home from Italy. Reports in New York yesterday were that Walker would be sustained by the Democratic State convention if former Gov. Smith would go along.

This would mean a direct test of strength between the Smith and Roosevelt forces in the convention.

The convention is to be held at Albany next Thursday.

The Business Upturn

Quickening of Railroad Repair Employment Reported From Several Sections; Hundreds of Men Are Called Back to Jobs.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

Chicago—Chicago & North Western Railway will put 200 men to work in the Chicago car shops Monday. Only a skeleton force has been employed for several months.

Chicago—The Miehle Printing Press & Manufacturing Co. announced a resumption of operations September 19 with 200 men working and 100 more to start work in the next two weeks.

Hammond, Ind.—The New York Central placed 50 men at work in the car shops here Thursday, will add 50 more Monday and expects to keep them at work indefinitely, repairing grain cars, E. M. Wilcox, master car builder, said.

Duquesne, Pa.—The Union Railroad Co. will resume operations in the car repair shop here October 10 with 180 men working part time. The locomotive repair shop at Hall, Pa., will operate the rest of the year with 185 men working part time.

Birmingham, Ala.—Officials of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co. will recall 500 workers Tuesday with resumption of operations which will increase pig iron production 350 to 400 tons daily.

Coffeyville, Kans.—The Missour Pacific Railroad during September added 300 workmen on the Central and Southern Kansas divisions. It was said at division headquarters that the added employment, which was exclusive of the addition of an undetermined number of trainmen, was the greatest increase in two years.

LEGALITY OF BURKE OUSTER BY GLASSFORD QUESTIONED

to end 30 years' service," Inspector Burke said.

At first, Gen. Glassford would give no reason for his mandate to Burke to either retire or be reduced.

"I consider it an administrative matter," he said.

"Don't you think that the District taxpayers, who pay approximately $600,000 a year to retired officers, have a right to know the reason why you add another salary which they must pay?" he was asked.

"That's a logical question," interposed Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, who was standing nearby.

Efficiency Move.

"For the sake of efficiency," Glassford replied.

Asked how he could reconcile the characterization of Inspector Burke as a "fine officer and a good chief of detectives" with his reason for action against the chief of detectives, he said:

"I think Capt. Kelly would make a better chief of detectives."

Gen Glassford was asked whether he could give a specific case of inefficiency on the part of Inspector Burke.

"Some of his men are inefficient."

"Didn't he ask to have some inefficient men transferred and you refused to ratify his suggestion."

"That was because the recommendations were made public before I saw them."

On one occasion, Gen. Glassford said, he asked Inspector Burke to place a screen in a room where detectives view criminals. This was not done promptly, Gen. Glassford said. This was the only instance of lack of "efficiency" on the part of Inspector Burke, cited by the police head.

Those in close contact with Police Department affairs attribute the breach between Inspector Burke and Gen. Glassford to the former's opposition to the creation of a Crime Prevention Bureau, which was one of the ideas which Gen. Glassford introduced.

Burke's Opposition.

At the time this project was discussed at headquarters, Inspector Burke, basing his judgment on 30 years of experience in the Police Department, said it was a waste of men and money, to place 40 men in a bureau the functions of which could be adequately executed by a squad of five.

Gen. Glassford, however, went ahead with the idea. After several months trial, the police head reduced the personnel. Now there are only half of the original number in the bureau and Gen. Glassford yesterday ordered it cut to sixteen men. The cost of operating this innovation which he inaugurated woud amount to $100,000 a year, in salaries alone.

Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby was entirely unaware of Gen. Glassford's intention to remove Inspector Burke.

"It's all news to me," said Commissioner Crosby.

To obviate any question as to the legality of his action, Gen. Glassford said last night he would ask the District Commissioners to affirm his action. Commissioner Crosby has enunciated a policy of not interfering with administrative matters.

In view of the strained relations between the District Commissioners and Gen. Glassford since the bonus riots, it is a question whether the Commissioners would assent to Glassford's request to reduce Inspector Burke, if the chief of detectives chose to fight his ouster.

Notice to Burke.

The memorandum to Inspector Burke read:

"You are hereby given opportunity to apply for retirement as assistant superintendent of police, Metropolitan Police, commanding the Detective Bureau; otherwise you will be relieved from the command of the Detective Bureau and assigned temporarily to police headquarters, with the rank of inspector."

In reply Inspector Burke said:

"To the Major and Superintendent:

"Guided by your memorandum of this date, giving me the option of retiring or being reduced, I hereby formally apply for retirement. I have approximately 30 years of service in police work, records for all of which are available in your office.

"It is most gratifying to know, as you said in our conversation at noon today, that you considered me an excellent officer and a capable one, and that there had been no complaint of any kind against me. You say that in your judgment you believe that the efficiency of the Detective Bureau can be increased by the change and I bow to your judgment and appreciate your permitting me to retire at my present grade.

"I can not help but observe that during my year and a quarter as chief of detectives, during which period I believe we have had the greatest volume and variety of crime in our history, our bureau has functioned more than reasonably well, which fact is probably gauged best by the fact that during that period there has been no adverse criticism of the manner of conducting the office, whereas, prior to my assignment here, there had been serious and continued criticism. This in spite of the fact, too, that I inaugurated a series of changes in operation, which was distasteful to many members of the bureau, but which changes, I feel satisfied, have resulted in a more efficient detective service, and in spite of the fact also that for some months past the personnel of this bureau was considerably reduced by details to other services.

Expresses Surprise.

"As I told you many months ago, if for any reason you did not have full confidence in me, then I could be of no use to you or our department. I still feel that way about it, and since you have indicated that you probably have lost confidence in me here, then I can realize that my usefulness to you and the department is at an end.

"I can not help but feel surprised, however, at the very apparent change in attitude since day before yesterday when you came into my office to discuss certain things you had in mind. You surely indicated nothing else, but that my bureau, as well as myself, was functioning excellently.

"With best personal wishes for your success, permit me to remain.

"Respectfully,

"(Signed) FRANK S. W. BURKE,
"Assistant Superintendent,
"Commanding Detective Bureau."

Had Been on Sick Leave.

The mandate of Gen. Glassford came after Inspector Burke had returned from a sick leave. He had been ill at his home. The development yesterday placed Gen. Glassford's name back on the front pages from which it had receded after he challenged the accuracy of Attorney General Mitchell's report on the bonus riots.

Other announcements at headquarters yesterday were: The transfer of Capt. J. A. Sullivan to the Third Precinct; an order for further reductions of the personnel of the Crime Prevention Bureau; a proposed increase in the hack inspector's office. These followed closely on the orders removing Inspector O. T. Davis as head of the Crime Prevention Bureau, and the call of Inspector J. F. Beckett from the Second inspection district to headquarters.

Inspector Burke will appear before the board of examining surgeons on Tuesday. The police retirement board meets Thursday.

Firebug Is Sought In Series of Blazes

A series of fire alarms, sounding in rapid succession for more than two hours, last night sent screaming engines throughout the downtown section and caused police no little concern when it was reported that each blaze was the work of a "fire bug."

It was estimated that between ten and fifteen alarms were sent in during the course of the night. In each case the flames were confined to trash and fences and did little damage. Police broadcast a lookout for a colored man, who was reported to have been seen in the vicinity of each fire.

HOOVER LEADERSHIP PRAISED BY CURTIS

Sees New Prosperity Near in Talk in Oklahoma; Lays Slump to Democrats.

Ponca City, Okla., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Vice President Curtis said tonight that measures undertaken by the Hoover administration have placed America in a position whence the Nation would be able to start on a new and lasting period of prosperity.

"After every great war and after periods of wild speculation, hard times have followed," the Vice President said in an address. "We have gone through many such periods, but our people always have come out and gone forward.

"And each time the Nation has become stronger and more powerful until today it is the leading Nation of the world."

Cites Former Crises.

Curtis traced former times of economic stress through the history of the United States, starting with 1837 "when labor was out of employment, firms went out of business, half the factories in the East were closed, and it was said 5,008 men attacked the City Hall in Boston."

He referred to the winter of 1857 "when mobs paraded the streets of New York demanding bread and the Subtreasury was guarded by Federal troops," to 1893 when Coxey's army marched to Washington, to 1914 when he said the Vreeland-Aldrich act was used to prevent a panic, and in 1919 when "industrial production was at its bottom because of depression."

In the latest instance of depression, Curtis said, President Hoover at the outset took every step within governmental scope of power. He spoke of the President's conference of industrial leaders and of public work programs to provide employment.

Blames Democrats.

At Alva this afternoon the Vice President described the depression as "an evil inherited from policies of our friends on the other side," and preached the doctrine of a protective tariff before an overflow audience of farmers and stockmen in the Northwestern State Teachers College Auditorium.

The Underwood tariff bill, passed during the Wilson administration, the war President's veto of tariffs on farm products, and the "deflation policy of the Federal Reserve Board under the Democrats," were scored by the Vice President.

He was introduced by M. C. Garber, Republican, representative for the Eight District, "not as the Vice President of the United States, but as Charley Curtis, a common man and friend of the people."

Driving through a drizzling rain, the Curtis party was greeted by crowds at towns along the route.

Roosevelt Claims Ridiculed by Wood

Part of Candidate's Speech Branded as "Deliberate Misstatement."

(Associated Press.)

Referring to Gov. Roosevelt's Sioux City address, Representative Will R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, said a statement issued through the Republican national committee yesterday said that the Democratic presidential nominee "shut his eyes to the facts."

"On finances he said that the present administration had been the greatest spending administration in peace times in all history," said the statement. "The only increase in expenditures by this administration has been to put men to work on public construction. * * *

"Gov. Roosevelt also said that President Hoover had added bureau upon bureau to the Federal establishment. That, of course, is a deliberate misstatement."

Washington Pageant Draws 10,000 to Fair at La Plata

Descendants of Friends of General Portray Characters in Presentation Seen by Members of Bicentennial Commission and Other Notables.

Special to The Washington Post.

La Plata, Md., Sept. 30.—Turning back the pages of history to the period from 1732 to 1797 for members of the Bicentennial Commission, State and county officials and more than 10,000 visitors, residents of Charles County today gave a pageant portrayal of Washington's life on the Tidewater Potomac entitled "Neighbor Washington," with many of the characters represented by descendants of friends of Washington. The pageant will be repeated tomorrow afternoon as a part of the program of the Charles County Fair.

"Neighbor Washington," written for the Charles County Bicentennial Association by Kathleen Read Koontz, of Washington, proved one of the most colorful of all the Bicentennial pageants given in this section, and the second performance tomorrow afternoon promises to bring together one of the largest crowds ever assembled in the county.

The narrative of the pageant is by Dr. James Craik, surgeon general of the Continental Army and Washington's closest friend, whose old home near La Plata is still a gathering place for lovers of history. He was impersonated by James Craik Mitchell, a great-great-grandson, prominent attorney of Charles County. Other characters taken by resident descendants were those of Thomas Stone, signer of the Declaration of Independence, with Bruce Matthews impersonating; Gen. Smallwood, Washington's chief of staff, by H. H. Hawkins; Richard Hanson Harrison, military secretary to Washington, by E. Lee Hanson; Dr. Gustavus Brown, personal physician to the Mount Vernon squire, was played by Jack Reeder, while Neighbor Washington was portrayed by John Mudd.

Among the scenes built wholly around southern Maryland are those of Washington dining with his friend, Dr. Brown, at Rose Hill, a property still in a splendid state of preservation; the Mount Vernon household attending the races at Benedict; "Marse Washington's people" welcoming him to his Maryland farm, and a meeting of the vestry of old Durham Episcopal Church, followed by the attendance at service of Washington and his family.

The Charles County Fair proper, which climaxes the years' work in agriculture and county activities, is one of the largest in point of exhibits and quality of products ever held in the county, and will continue throughout tomorrow.

Bay State G. O. P. Votes Repeal Plank

Hoover and Coolidge Send Messages to Party's Convention.

Boston, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Massachusetts Republicans in State convention here today declared in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment with the proviso that the saloon must not return.

The simple plank dealing with the subject contained only 31 words, and drew prolonged applause when read to the delegates in Symphony Hall, by Jay R. Benton, chairman of the resolutions committee and former attorney general.

President Hoover, in a message to the convention in answer to the telegraphed greeting of that body said:

"We have now entered a period of the campaign when every energy needs to be put forward to bring to the people an understanding of the principles and purpose of the Republican party."

A message from former President Coolidge urged party workers to more intensive organization work to insure victory in November.

R.F.C. BORROWERS NAMES WITHHELD

(Associated Press.)

The bulky list of borrowers from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be withheld from public scrutiny at least until next week because of the protest against publicity lodged by the lending organization with the clerk of the House of Representatives.

South Trimble, the clerk, while studying the arguments presented, made public the letter of objection from Atlee Pomerene, chairman, and an accompanying brief by Morton G. Bogue, general counsel of the corporation. Both came to him Thursday, together with the monthly report covering August loans.

Serious Embarrassment Caused.

Mr. Pomerene contended that Trimble's publication of the July report—the first made to the House and Senate under provisions of the relief law—had caused "serious embarrassment" to borrowers, and had frightened off other potential loan seekers. Chairman Pomerene said:

"The publication of the July report caused serious embarrassment to a number of borrowers. It gave rise to much unjust criticism. Reports were circulated that some of the institutions borrowing were not in good financial condition, when they were perfectly sound. This resulted in withdrawals from some of the banks and other institutions. * *

"No good purpose is served by the publication of these names at this time, when, in a very short while, the House of Representatives can order it done if its members so wish."

"We also have reliable information," he wrote, "that other banks and financial institutions, including insurance companies, which were in need of funds and intended to apply to the corporation for loans, have refused to do so because they felt that publicity would do them great harm."

Will Withhold Data.

In a formal statement, Trimble said that in view of the corporation's request not to make the report public he felt "justified in withholding publication of the report until I have had an opportunity to carefully consider the (Bogue) opinion."

This document stated "the provisions of the act do not direct or authorize publication of these reports by the clerk, and do not permit him to afford the public the right of opportunity to inspect them."

"The relief act itself," continued the Bogue brief, "merely provides that the corporation shall submit monthly to the President and to the Senate and House of Representatives a report of its activities and expenditures. It is silent on the question whether these reports shall be made public by the President, the Senate or the House, or by the corporation itself.

"The act requires the reports to be submitted to the Secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the House of Representatives if those bodies are not in session. There is no direction to the secretary of the Senate or the clerk of the House to publish these reports."

R. F. C. AIDS HAWAII AND THREE STATES

Islands Granted $307,435; Louisiana, Nevada and New Mexico Listed.

(Associated Press.)

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday extended Federal relief into the Hawaiian Islands as well as to three States.

Loans were announced to care for the needy in two Hawaiian counties; three counties in Nevada; 35 parishes in Louisiana, and the entire State of New Mexico.

Hawaii was granted $307,435; Louisiana, $1,008,944; New Mexico, $90,800, and Nevada, $47,200 with a promise of more as soon as additional information is made available.

Gov. Judd of Hawaii had asked the corporation for $450,000 for relief work in the islands.

The Louisiana loan will be used in 35 parishes in which 42.58 per cent of the State's population lives, the announcement said. A loan of $1,096,084 to care for needs of another group of parishes was made on August 16.

In New Mexico, the corporation said, many farmers are reported in need of direct assistance because of low farm product prices. In one county 35 per cent of the farmers were reported to have lost their farms.

The three Nevada counties benefiting were Clark, Washoe and White Pine. In Clark County difficulty was reported because of stranded transients seeking employment at Hoover Dam. The corporation said that on receipt of additional data from White Pine and Washoe Counties, their needs would be considered further.

Will of "Mother" Jones Is Simple Document

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—An undated document signed with the single word "Mother" was filed in Probate Court today to close the estate of the late Mary "Mother" Jones, organized labor's internationally known sympathizer, who died nearly two years ago at the age of 100. The will was filed in Probate Court by Edward Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor. It disposes of an estate valued at about $1,000 and names Nockels and John Fitzpatrick, veteran president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, as sole legatees.

Nockels said a few minor debts will be paid from the estate and the remainder used to erect a monument over "Mother" Jones' grave at Mount Olive, Ill. She died December 1, 1930, near Silver Spring, Md.

U. S. ATTACKS DAVIS TESTIMONY AT TRIAL

His Connection With Charity Balls and Alleged Lottery Is Under Fire.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Defense testimony to show Senator James J. Davis had no connection with the Moose organization department, which received $140,000 of the proceeds of two charity balls allegedly gleaned from lotteries, was attacked by the Government at an abbreviated session of the senator's trial today.

Joseph A. Jenkins testified under cross-examination that there was "never anything written" in connection with a deal by which he and Fred W. Jones are said to have taken over the organization department from the senator, director-general of the Loyal Order, for $670,000 in 1930.

"You just go right ahead and make it go," was what the Pennsylvania senator told Jenkins and Jones, the witness said. "I've given my life to this work and I want you to realize what you're taking over. You've got those children out in Mooseheart to take care of. If you fail the organization fails."

The organization department is in charge of enrolling new members and retains part of the initiation fees.

As for the money paid to this department by the propogation department, which ran the charity balls, Jenkins said the payment was to "reestablish the good will" of Theodore G. Miller, its head, because the balls were cutting into the profits of Jenkins' department.

The Government contends the money paid to the organization department in reality was paid to Davis.

An automobile mishap at Hains Point, on the Speedway, September 7, yesterday resulted in the returning of an indictment by the District grand jury charging Robert F. Huppell, 929 Fifth street northwest, with manslaughter.

Machinist Shooting Assailant Is Sought

J. F. Morgan, Union Official, Accuses Former Navy Yard Worker.

While blood transfusions were resorted to yesterday to rally James F. Morgan, 51-year-old machinist's union official, from death's door, police sought unsuccessfully to arrest the man who fired six shots into his body early Thursday night.

Mr. Morgan himself has declared Harrison Kaiser, 42, former fellow worker at the navy yard, where the wounded man is employed now, was his assailant. Police surrounded his house in the Southeast section Thursday night. When a man approached the house from a lane running into the rear alley, a policeman challenged him and the man fled. Police are confident it was Kaiser.

Homicide squad detectives learned that a man named Kaiser, furloughed from the same shop at the navy yard that Mr. Morgan is employed in, had made statements blaming Mr. Morgan for his nonemployment. There was also said to be a disagreement over a union dues rebate between the two.

5,000 Witness Pagentry of Coronation Marked by Color and Beauty.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., Sept. 30.—Radiant sky vied with the beauty of the Piedmont Dairy festival here today, held in an old Colonial setting. The festival centered around the crowning of Miss Anne Elizabeth Davies, of Clarendon, as Regina II, and installation of her maids of honor and other members of the court.

With more than 5,000 guests from the Piedmont section grouped around the throne, the queen, with the Monticello Guard of Charlottesville as honor guard and preceded by her maids of honor, Misses Virginia Bushong and Catherine Gosnell, of Arlington, little Anne Leachman Janney, of Alexandria, as crown bearer, and the 12 princesses representing the counties participating in the festival, entered.

She was presented to the people by the Rev. A. Stuart Gibson, rector of Dettingen Parish, Prince William County, who declared her the undoubted queen of the realm, whereupon she was loudly acclaimed by her subjects and given the oath of office. In the name and for the realm of the Piedmont Virginia Dairy Festival Brig. Gen. William D. Mitchell, U. S. A., retired, of Middleburg, placed the crown upon her head. The solemnity of the coronation ended, the queen, wearing her crown and bearing the sceptre, marched to the place appointed to witness the pageant.

The train bearers were Mary Elizabeth Kerfoot and Marjorie Jean Weaver, of Arlington County, while other members of the court were: Princess Culpeper, Miss Sallie Ratrie; Princess Fauquier, Miss Charlotte Brown; Princess Fairfax, Miss Randolph Richardson; Princess Loudoun, Miss Mary Moore; Princess Madison, Miss Louise Kathryn Renalds; Princess Orange, Miss Hope Robertson; Princess Prince William, Miss Esther Warren Pattie; Princess Rappahannock, Miss Jessie Miller Jones; Princess Stafford, Miss Grace D. Moncure; Princess Spotsylvania, Miss Caroline Read; Princess District of Columbia, Miss Sylvia Meredith, and Princess-at-large, Miss Hilda Peck, of Fairfax.

The pageant "Night's Pasture Fields," carrying out the plans of the Festival to picture milk and its products as being of vast importance in preserving health, featured life, health and beauty emphasizing the joy of living.

The "Milky Way" parade in the afternoon was one of the most colorful ever held in northern Virginia and with floats from the eleven counties in the Festival Association, civic organizations and women's clubs, 4-H Boys and Girls Clubs, Future Farmers of Virginia, County Granges, and a division of commercial floats, all preceded by the Marine Band of Quantico, with the Alexandria High School cadets, the Washington and Lee High School cadets, and students and clubs from all of the counties, the more than 10,000 visitors who lined the sidewalks cheered each unit as it marched or rode by. E. R. Conner and Melvin Hazen were marshals, while the Monticello guards, and county fire departments and 25 hunt club members mounted added color to the affair.

The festivities came to an end tonight with the Queen's ball, which was preceded by a march of the royal family to the seats of honor where before joining the host of dancers they reviewed the spectacle throughout a number of dances.

series at Wrigley Field and in the evening he will address a banquet at the Stevens Hotel. He will leave for the East at 11 p. m.

Milwaukee, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt came through an open-handed Wisconsin welcome today to crowded Eagles Hall to pay liberal praise to the way the State has demonstrated "the practical utility of liberal principles." He left at 7 p. m. for Chicago.

Thousands of Wisconsin citizens had caught a glimpse of the Democratic presidential candidate on his passage from Beloit through fertile dairy lands to the Milwaukee station, and on an hour's automobile drive through the city that brought him to Eagles Hall.

Gov. Roosevelt, escorted by James Roosevelt and a group of policemen, passed through and up a long ramp to the stage while a continuous wave of applause came from the several thousand packed into the hall and the gallery with its ornate circle of boxes.

Correcting Present Order.

Gov. Roosevelt said that "out here in Wisconsin you do not merely protest against the teachings of the present order, you set out to correct them. You set up standards to which liberals in all States have found it profitable and inspiring to repair. It is in this spirit that I speak to you today. I have been thinking about what these liberal principles of yours mean, in terms of actual legislative enactment, and I have tried to find out what seemed to be the essential principles behind them.

"These essential principles, as I see them, may in detail differ from the interpretation which others place upon them, but to me they suffice as an inspiring record of high ordered, intelligent political movement.

"In the first place, there is the principle of old party allegiance in its true perspective. The choice this fall is one which involves a purpose and a principle deeper than any party. It is one which I hope and believe is the fulfillment of the hopes that many persons have held and I have said repeatedly with most remarkable response that the Republican who believes in liberal principles, faced by the situation that now exists, can not fail to see that he has nothing in common with the blind reactionary spirit that characterizes the present administration in Washington.

"This refreshing freedom from the party lockstep is a Wisconsin habit I hope the habit continues."

Importance of Liberal Thought.

He praised the work of the State in regulating railroads and power and added:

"Government not only must protect the rights of the individual by maintaining an interest in economic life, but it must extend the hand of aid and comfort whenever human values are at stake."

He spoke of the liberal principles of education he said had been maintained in the University of Wisconsin and concluded:

"These principles of liberal thought I hold to be of inestimable human importance. You have done much here in this State to give them human application. I respect you for having believed in them and worked toward them. They deserve universal application—universal respect."

He was introduced by F. Ryan Duffy, Democratic candidtae for senator, in a short talk in which Duffy said the Democrats of Wisconsin were united behind the New York Governor.

INSULL ROAD GOES INTO RECEIVERSHIP

Other Firms Paid $170,222 on Brokerage Accounts Investigators Claim.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Another Insull operating company went into receivership today while prosecutors, delving into the books of Middle West Utilities and Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment Co. reported evidence that they had paid off a $170,222 brokerage account for Martin J. Insull.

The Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad was the latest of the Insull transportation units to confess itself unable to meet expenses in a Federal court action.

So severe had the decline in business been that during the last eight months the electric line, operating between Chicago and Milwaukee, had not met operating costs, and even a loan of $1,150,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could not ward off receivership.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson appointed A. A. Sprague and Britton I. Budd receivers. Liabilities of the North Shore Line were estimated at $3,000,000 more than current assets, and the company consented to the petition filed by the American Brake Shoe and Foundry Co., a creditor.

The latest official purported revelation of the coverage of Insull personal accounts with withdrawals from the funds of their investment houses was made in a statement by State's Attorney John A. Swanson. The prosecutor said he discovered two checks, paying off the debts of Martin Insull to the brokerage firms of Russell, Brewster & Co. and Jackson Bros., Boesel Co. He did not comment as to what proceedings would be taken. Swanson began his investigation last week to determine whether criminal laws of Illinois had been violated in the Insull financing operations.

U.S. ATLANTIC FLEET TO STAY IN PACIFIC

Greater Degree of Training and Economy Held Cause of Time Extension.

(Associated Press.)

The Atlantic Fleet was ordered yesterday by the Navy Department to remain on the Pacific Coast for another six months, or until the completion of winter maneuvers.

This order was decided upon, Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, said, because it will be more economical and will permit a greater degree of training in conjunction with the Pacific Fleet.

The Atlantic Fleet was sent to the West Coast last March for maneuvers. It was then the intention to return it east in May, but at that time orders were issued for it to remain west until October.

Navy officials again said that plans for sending the fleet to the Pacific had been completed long before the Sino-Japanese hostilities began, and that the crisis had been passed before it was decided to keep the force on the West Coast.

In his statement directing the Atlantic Fleet, known as the scouting force, and its auxiliary, training squadron 1 of the base force, to remain in the San Pedro-San Diego area, Admiral Pratt said the maneuvers would be completed about March 20.

Ordinarily the maneuvers rotate between the Atlantic and Pacific Coast and the Panama Canal area. The Hawaiian Islands were included in the scope of last year's war games.

RIO GRANDE FLOOD CREATES BIG HAVOC

Seven Reported Drowned in Mexico; Brownsville Issues Warning.

Rio Grande City, Tex., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Seven persons tonight were reported drowned in northern Mexico by floods that spread over a vast area in the southern republic and the southwestern United States.

Torrential rains in the flooded region swelled the crooked, usually placid Rio Grande and its tributaries into dangerous activity.

In northern Mexico the floods were regarded as the most serious in 20 years. Railroad and highway travel was disrupted and thousands were in need of relief.

The Brownsville, Tex., Weather Bureau issued a flood warning saying water in sight at Rio Grande City would cause a rise equal, if not greater, than that of a month ago when numerous persons were drowned and property damage was estimated in millions.

Caution to safeguard lives and property in areas where levees were weak was advised. Residents of lowlands around Rio Grande City were evacuating their homes.

Water was flowing into a control floodway near McAllen. The water inundated sections of lowlands as it poured through a 100-foot gap torn in the levee by the last flood. The break had not been repaired.

Much concern was expressed over the San Juan River, which drains into the Rio Grande at Rio Grande City. Heavy rains on its watershed started it on a destructive rampage.

Six persons were known to have lost their lives at Heujutla, in the State of Hidalgo, and one death was reported from Monterrey. Thousands of head of live stock drowned. The Mexican federal congress has appropriated 80,000 pesos for relief in the stricken area.

Other speakers were Roland B. Mahaney, former member of Congress from Buffalo and later Minister to Ecuador; John F. Costello, Democratic national committeeman for the District, and Nathan B. William, of the speakers bureau of the local Democratic committee.

TROOPS AT SAN JUAN HELP IN REBUILDING

Island Governor Sends Direct Plea to Hoover for U. S. Tents and Cots.

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Sept. 30 (A. P.).—National Guardsmen laid aside their guns today by order of Gov. Beverley to become for the moment carpenters and masons in the rebuilding of the city.

The governor also requested that United States troops be detailed if available to the duty of repairing the damage wrought by last Monday's hurricane. All the able-bodied citizenry already are at the task of reconstruction.

The governor estimated today that 75,000 persons were homeless, and millions of dollars in property was destroyed. Police listed 217 persons killed and 2,219 injured.

Appeals to Hoover.

Today the governor appealed direct to President Hoover, advising the Executive that the island needs 5,000 tents, 30,000 cots and quantities of blankets.

The disaster was of such magnitude, he reported, that the island government can not cope with the emergency without aid from the mainland. The people count on shelter and aid from the Army, he said, and food from the Red Cross.

What the city misses most is electricity. The powerhouse went out of operation during the storm and, although power has been restored in some very small degree, there is not enough to pump water from the reservoirs, to run the bakeries, the trolley cars or to light the houses. The lack of water is especially acute.

Bank Is Threatened.

This morning there was a slight run on the Banco Popular as a result of the closing last night of the Banco Territorial y Agricola. The officers announced the Banco Popular would remain open night and day to pay depositors and it was believed at noon that the slow run had been checked.

A special train of thirteen freight cars, containing 5,000 barrels of Red Cross flour, left Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday for New York, where it will be loaded this morning on the New York and Puerto Rico steamship S. S. Ponce for Puerto Rico hurricane victims, it was announced here yesterday.

FEDERAL CAFETERIAS ARE HELD NECESSITY

are overworked. One is 'welfare' and the other is 'efficiency.' Under the shelter of these two high-sounding words many grave injustices have been perpetrated upon men engaged in private business and naturally upon the wage-earners depending upon them for a livelihood."

Representative Shannon further stated that the arguments of welfare and efficiency could not additionally justify the serving of breakfast and dinner as is the practice of several of the restaurants.

Continuing his argument, Representative Shannon cited a report of the Bureau of Efficiency, which reads: "The War Department cafeteria at Eighteenth and D streets northwest is not serving primarily War Department employes. It serves breakfast and dinner in addition to lunch and is patronized by persons from all sections of Washington. It does not serve a large number of War Department employes and the cafeteria should be discontinued in its present location."

Commenting upon this, Shannon asserted: "But recommending is one thing and discontinuing is another, where a Government bureau or a welfare association is concerned. Although this recommendation was made to Secretary Hurley a year ago, the cafeteria at Eighteenth and D streets is still doing business."

The United States Chamber of Commerce, which has made an exhaustive probe into every phase in which the Federal Government is in competition with private industry, is interested in the operation of restaurants in Government buildings.

E. A. Skinner, secretary of the chamber, yesterday expressed an opinion which may be taken as the chamber's attitude. He declared that the Government's hand should be divorced entirely from their operation.

Whether they are operated by individuals, employes groups or the Welfare and Recreational Association of Public Buildings and Grounds is immaterial, he asserted, so long as the privilege is let through competitive bidding and the Government is reimbursed for heat, rent, light and gas, which, as was explained in previous articles, are in many cases furnished free.

He believes that a cafeteria in a public building should be a business opportunity open to any one with no special privileges and competing on a footing of equality with all restaurant enterprise.

ALARM BROADCAST FOR STORE ROBBERS

Pair Who Tied Up Five Men and Got $15 Are Believed Strangers.

Police in Maryland and Virginia were asked to be on the lookout last night for two young men answering the description of the bandits who bound and gagged five men yesterday morning in robbing a Sanitary Grocery Co. store at 4883 Conduit road northwest.

Detective Larry O'Dea, head of the robbery squad, said that he is convinced the bandits were from out of town. A description of the youths is the only clew on which to work, O'Dea said.

The robbers obtained only $15 in cash and several hundred dollars in checks after their invasion of the store was interrupted five times within a few minutes.

Kent R. Copper, manager of the store, was the first to be bound and gagged by the youths when they made their entry at 7 a. m. He was thrown into a washroom. Harry Munday, meat manager, then entered the store. He was tied up and placed in an icebox. Claude McMullan, a clerk, appeared and followed Munday in the icebox.

The next victim was a customer, J. M. Crawley, of 4901 V street northwest. One of the robbers approached him in the guise of a clerk, wearing a white coat, produced his gun and, with the aid of his companion, tied up Crawley and threw him under a shelf. The fifth victim was Fireman U. M. Westbrook, of No. 20 Engine Company, another customer. He was bound and gagged and dragged behind the meat counter.

Post's Story Finds Mrs. Lamont's Dog

Recognizing the photograph of King, abducted police dog pet of Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, in The Post yesterday morning, members of the clergy at St. Patrick's Church, Tenth and G streets northwest, recovered the dog from boys playing in an alley and restored it to its owner.

Mrs. Lamont, wife of the former Secretary of Commerce, missed the dog Thursday afternoon as she shopped in a downtown store. A police lookout was broadcast for a small boy who had asked permission to play with the pet.

Last night Mrs. Lamont was confident that the story and photograph, published excusively in The Washington Post, were instrumental in bringing about the return of her pet.

homes, and also will confer with the members of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission regarding the water supply.

It then will make such recommendations as are deemed necessary regarding practices of the water commission or the legislation regarding that body. One of the chief problems which will be considered will be the suggested possibility of extending the facilities of the commission to connect with the Patuxent or Potomac Rivers and eliminate the necessity of purchasing District of Columbia water in drought periods.

The committee on roads of the federation has been instructed to ascertain the amount of the $1,000,000 road and school bond issue recently sold by the county commissioners which is available for road construction and the amount available from State and Federal funds, together with details of the projects planned by the commissioners and the State roads commission. The report is to show how closely the commissioners and the roads commission have followed the recommendations made by the civic federation and whether or not the money will be available to carry out the full program.

The Sligo Park Hills Citizens Association has been approved for membership by the committee on membership and will be voted on at the meeting.

Market Meanderings

By MILDRED REED BUNDY

The freshest of green vegetables, bright citrus fruits, and bushels of red and yellow apples form the background of daily activity in one busy market stand where the Meanderer frequently calls. In a cheery way, without complaining of the well known "depression," the intelligent Graeco-American proprietor waits on his trade and hopes for better times. His business sign adds " - - - and Sons" to his name.

"How many sons have you?" the Meanderer wanted to know.

"Plenty," she was told, immediately being enlightened with the fact that "plenty" meant six!

"But where are they? They're not working today?"

"Oh, all in school, now. Gotta have education."

The eldest of the sons is 16, the food merchant said. And the six boys have two sisters. The determination to make a living sufficient to educate his eight children does not prevent this marketer from being carefully honest. He shows his customers fancy fruits at rather high prices, then smaller varieties at lower prices but "just as good," he declares. He is even willing to slice oranges to prove the juiciness of 20 cents a dozen size, as compared with those of higher price.

A showing of leafy green vegetables in this market is in nice variety. New, crisp, spinach sells there at four pounds for 25 cents. Boston head lettuce was tagged only 5 cents a head. Domestic endive, or chicory, was there in great abundance, as well as kale, mustard greens, turnip greens and rape. Large, choice, alligator pears sell at two for 25 cents. Heavy, juicy grapefruit are as low as 5 cents each, and few are priced as high as 10 cents.

Thrifty housewifes have known for weeks and months that a good quality of canned tomato soup may be bought for 5 cents a can in chain stores. But it is news this week that one chain store is offering, in addition to the usual tomato soup values, the same brand and weight in three three other kinds—vegetables, pea soup and chicken and noodle soup. Nourishing family meals and children's hot lunches on chilly days may indeed be prepared economically when such soups are included.

Choice, shelled lima beans at 35 cents a quart, and large brussels sprouts from California at only 25 cents a quart, were high lights in appetizing food economy spotted in an important stall in a big food market in the southwest section this week.

Truly a help to the meal planner with a limited food budget is the new "cubed steak" offered in one high-class meat shop. By a new patented process, steak cuts from the tougher portions of meat may be "cubed" or cut through the tough fibers so that they may be prepared appetizingly after the manner in which more expensive steaks are served. To demonstrate, slices from a three-corner roast of beef, a cut well known to the housewife who must count pennies, were put through the cubing machine. They emerged flattened and generously enlarged, with every tough fiber cut crosswise. They cost less than one-fourth of the dollar paid for the roast. And were they good, after a quick pan-broiling in the Meanderer's own kitchen?

A carload of Concord grapes from New York State received late this week by one of the principal wholesale fruit dealers in a market in Southwest Washington, will usher in the last days of this year's grape harvest. Grapes will not be available on the local market after the first week or ten days of October, the dealer said.

A dairy products dealer in a big, centrally located downtown shop is selling a much-favored butter substitute at 2 pounds for a quarter as a special this week. This shop sells an exceptionally good imported Swiss cheese for 70 cents a pound.

News of Fellenberg prune plums at $1 a half bushel is interesting to the housewife busy with preserving. The Meanderer found the prunes in a flourishing food selling row in Southwest Washington.

While beef and pork have held steadily to recent price advances, lamb continues low priced in Washington meat markets. One dealer in the highest grades of meats, who will have none but the best spring lamb in his crop, sells the hind quarter at 25 cents a pound and the legs of lamb for 30 cents. Last year's price for fancy leg of lamb at about this season was 40 cents.

Washington should have its full share of apples this year, though the forecast is for a short crop. A commission merchant, who handled 100,000 bushels in 1931, expects to bring an equal quantity of apples to Washington this year, despite the limited crop.

Telephone inquiries about items in this column to The Washington Post, Telephone National 4205, Extension 52, or address Mildred Reed Bundy, The Washington Post, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

TIMELY TESTED RECIPES.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Beef Loaf.

2 pounds lean beef
1 cup diced salt pork (about ½ pound)
4 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1 cup chopped parsley
¼ cup chopped onion
1 cup fine, dry bread crumbs
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Put the meat through a grinder. Fry the diced salt pork until light brown and crisp and remove the pieces from the pan. Make a sauce of the flour, milk, and 3 tablespoons of the pork drippings. Cook the parsley and onion for a few minutes in the rest of the pork drippings, and add to this the bread crumbs and seasonings. Combine all the ingredients and use the hands to mix thoroughly. The mixture will have a sticky consistency. Lay a piece of parchment paper on a rack in an open roasting pan. Mold the meat loaf on the paper with the hands. Bake the loaf in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) for 1¼ hours. Do not cover the pan and do not add water. Much better results are obtained by making the meat loaf in this way than by packing it into a deep pan and baking it like a loaf of bread. Remove the meat loaf from the paper and serve hot, or chill it and serve in thin slices.

Sandwich Fillings.

Chop hard-cooked eggs, and mix with minced crisp fried bacon and enough salad dressing to moisten.

Wash prunes, dates, raisins, or dried figs or apricots, chop fine, mix with about twice as much cream or cottage cheese, add salt to season, and chopped nuts if desired.

Mix cream or cottage cheese with chow-chow, chili sauce, or chopped dill pickle, green or ripe olives, celery, green pepper, parsley, watercress, onion, or other salad vegetables, or with chopped nuts, and add salt to season.

Grind shelled roasted peanuts medium fine, mix with enough cream to moisten, and add salt to season. This is particularly good as a filling for graham or wholewheat bread.

To one-half cup cold Boston baked beans, add 2 tablespoons chili sauce, mash, mix to a smooth paste, and spread between slices of brown bread.

Peach Tapioca.

¼ cup quick-cooking tapioca
1 pint hot water
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup peach juice
2 cups sliced, canned peaches

Cook the tapioca and water in a double boiler for 15 minutes, add the sugar, butter, salt and lemon and peach juice, which has been drained from the peaches. In a greased baking dish make alternate layers of the tapioca and peaches arranged so that a layer of the peaches comes on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes, or until brown on top. Serve either hot or cold.

Grape Pie.

5 cups Concord grapes
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Pastry

Pull the grapes from the stems. Slip off the skins and keep them separate from the pulp. Heat the juice and pulp for about 5 minutes. Then rub the pulp through a sieve to remove the seeds. Combine the sugar, cornstarch and salt, mix with the grape pulp and cook for about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Then add the grape skins and lemon juice and pour the fruit filling into a pie pan lined with pastry. Cover the top with strips of pastry and bake in a hot oven for about 30 minutes.

Lemon Sherbet.

2 cups milk and 1 cup cream or 3 cups rich milk
1¼ cups sugar
1 cup lemon juice
½ cup water
¼ teaspoon salt

Heat 1 cup of the milk, add the sugar, stir until the sugar is dissolved and add the other ingredients. Use a freezing mixture of 1 part of salt and 4 to 6 parts of ice and turn the crank of the freezer slowly. After freezing, remove the dasher, pack the freezer with more ice and salt and let the sherbet stand for an hour or more to ripen the flavor.

Baked Pears.

Wash the pears, cut in half, core and place in a baking dish. Sprinkle with sugar and a little salt, dot with butter, add very little water, cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). As soon as the fruit becomes soft remove the cover so that the sirup will cook down. Serve hot or cold with or without cream.

GRAPE MERINGUE PIE RECIPE WINS PRIZE

Miss Rose J. Hart Awarded $5 by Post as Best Contribution for Week.

A recipe for a grape meringue pie, submitted by Miss Rose J. Hart, of 401 Maryland avenue northeast, wins the $5 prize awarded by The Post this week.

To be eligible in the contest, which is held each week, a recipe must contain some ingredient sold by an advertiser on the Saturday food page. The recipe arranged by Miss Hart follows:

2½ cups grapes (seeds removed)
1¼ cups sugar
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minute tapioca
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites and 2 tablespoons sugar (meringue)

Into upper part of double boiler put grapes (pulp, juice and skins), sugar, butter and tapioca. Cook until tapioca is clear, about fifteen minutes, then add well-beaten yolks and cook two minutes longer. Cool slightly and pour into previously baked crust. Cover with meringue, return to oven to brown. Ingredients obtained at Sanitary Stores.

OUR DAILY FOOD

By COLONEL GOODBODY

DINING WITH THE "GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH."

"RIGHT this way, ladies and gentlemen. To the big dining tent which seats more than 1,000 people."

I had the opportunity, recently, to go behind the scenes in the circus. As I mentioned, the dining tent seats more than 1,000 at a time. It takes 70 chefs, cooks and waiters to prepare the meals. At a single breakfast, 10,000 pancakes are sometimes served.

The marketing for the big circus family is a tremendous job.

It's done every day, in whatever town the circus is showing. The head of the circus commissary has a daily shopping order which includes a couple thousand loaves of bread, 300 pounds of butter, 300 gallons of milk, 200 pounds of coffee, and 1,500 pounds of fresh vegetables; a ton of fresh meat, 200 dozen eggs.

When I visited the circus, it was their first day under canvas. The tables were nearly set, with place cards for everybody. Everybody in the show has his own special place and eats there every day.

Our guide through the circus said that the performers eat lightly, if at all, before their acts. And here's a funny thing—the midgets, the "little people," often eat more than the circus fat lady.

I was interested in the feeding of the animals. We found out that the elephants love carrots—one elephant named Clara even likes apple pies.

Another funny thing about Clara. When she eats her hay, she always puts a few wisps above her left ear, and saves it till the last. There are 50 elephants in this circus, and each one drinks a barrel of water every day.

Inspired by this trip to the circus I asked my culinary staff to prepare a circus party menu for children. Here it is:

Creamed mixed vegetables in molded carrot ring; peanut butter sandwiches, currant jelly sandwiches, ice cream with chocolate-coated animal crackers, and pink lemonade. That's the circus party luncheon.

The carrot ring, which is supposed to represent the "sawdust ring," is made of carrots, eggs, bread crumbs and evaporated milk. The sandwiches are cut with cooky cutters in the shape of clowns. And for dessert, ice cream with chocolate-coated animal crackers and fruit lemonade. And let me give you a little tip: Add a little strawberry juice to the lemonade to make it look real circus-y.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

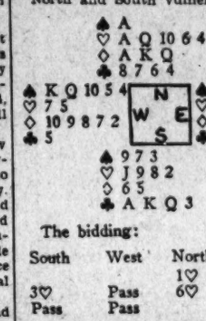
CARELESS PLAY.

CARELESS play in Bridge not only mars the beauty of the game, but frequently results in large losses. Carelessness is not a fault of the average player alone. Even expert players at times forget to consider all angles of a situation. In consequence they find themselves throwing away hundreds of points through their insistence upon making a play before considering all the questions involved.

The holder of the North cards in the hand below was a player who ranked high in New York. I have no doubt that since he played this hand he has spent many an hour pondering on the disaster which overtook him merely because of his carelessness.

North—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
		1♡	Pass
3♡	Pass	6♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding of both North and South was meticulously correct. South had the values for a Jump Raise in hearts and this course was greatly to be preferred to the showing of his biddable club suit. As the cards lie, North could, by inference, place strength in clubs in the South hand in view of his Double Raise, and thus could, with considerable safety, bid for the Slam.

The play, however, was amazingly bad. The club Knave was opened and the Declarer, superficially studying the Dummy, could see that his contract was assured. Without stopping to make the proper plan of the play, he won the first trick in the Dummy, led the heart Knave and finessed the suit. The finesse failed and East returned a club, which West ruffed. This foolish play to score an immaterial overtrick was one which this particular player would not have made 1 time in 100. All that he had to do to score the Slam was to play the Ace and another heart and thus provide assurance against the very contingency which actually brought about his defeat. It is obvious, of course, that the club loser in Dummy may be discarded on one of the high diamonds.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

MISS A. K. writes:
I am going to a formal party in three weeks and would like to know how to make my hair grow at least one-half inch a week. Could you tell me how?

It is impossible to guarantee that your hair will grow to the extent you wish it. But brushing it about a hundred strokes twice a day, massaging the scalp and taking a warm oil treatment once a week followed by shampoo the next morning may all help to stimulate the circulation through the scalp and thereby promote the growth of hair. I'd like you to have my hair bulletins if you will send self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A daily reader writes:
Would you tell me how I might reduce my hips, they measure 38. I'm 5½ feet tall. What should I weigh?

The squatting exercise and rolling, also lying on back and rolling one leg over the other are excellent to reduce the hips. I should have to know your age to tell you about what you should weigh for your height. My reducing booklet would give you this information. It includes weight chart, also special exercises for reducing troublesome spots.

Bessie writes:
I keep up with your column every day and find it a great help. Help me as you have helped others. My face is full of black spots called beauty spots or moles. How can I get rid of them. I have about eight in all.

Do not attempt to remove them at home. Consult with your physician and ask him if he recommends having them removed by electrolysis and if so will he recommend a specialist? These spots are easily removed by a skilled expert but should be entrusted only to him and not an inexperienced person.

M. J. F. writes:
I have quite a few freckles and want to ask you if there is any other way of getting rid of them without injuring my skin are not buying freckle cream.

If M. J. F. will send for my freckle bulletin, it gives many home remedies for dimming freckles. However these bleaches will not rid her skin entirely of the freckles but will merely make them less noticeable. Any preparation that completely removes the freckles may be too strong and may injure the skin.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LIBRA."

IF October 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:35 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 7:40 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:45 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

A jaundiced outlook upon life will be engendered by astrological influences on October 1, and nothing will seem to go right. The world, through your eyes, will appear both hostile and unfriendly. You may be precipitated into a new world by an event of a startling and an unexpected nature.

The child born on this October 1 will have an agreeable nature, and will merit the affection of many people. It will lean more to the spiritual and intellectual sides of life than to the purely physical. A sense of justice will control all its actions of life, and it will be very sympathetic.

You have a very intense nature if born on October 1, and put your whole heart and soul into things. You are apt to ride your hobbies to premature death and your pleasures or fads are usually short-lived. There is nothing set about your ideas or views, and you are always liable to be found on the opposite side of the fence. At times you are too cautious, and lose out by waiting for developments or to see what move the other fellow makes.

You can not enter readily into conversation with every one, and there are many people with whom you feel decidedly out of tune. You are very sensitive to atmospheres, and will always strive for harmonious surroundings. You would rather live in a hall-bedroom in peace than in a palace with those with whom you clash. As you grow older, your extreme likes and dislikes will not be so pronounced, and you will submit more amiably to inevitable factors.

You are too high-strung for your emotional life to be subdued or humdrum, and are capable of either being moved to ecstacy or prostrated with despair. If a man, there is a woman capable of living up to your ideal, and it is not probable that you will find much marital happiness. Success lies near to your native land or town. Travel will not bring you happiness.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

OFFENSIVE DRINKING WATER.

WHEN the old well was the source of water supply there was rarely any complaint of the taste or odor. Either the water had none or else the users learned to like the new flavors. They said the water from their well was sweet. At long intervals the well cleaner was sent for, but this was because it was known that wells should be cleaned at intervals, and not because of the flavor of the water.

Then came public water supplies and many people became resentful. They preferred the home supply; they resented being forced, and they did not like the taste of the town water.

As population became more dense the public water supplies were found to be seeding the community with typhoid. Resentment again arose. To end this danger chlorinating the public water supply became the custom. When this became known there was a mild glow of resentment which was easily fanned into a flame whenever any odor or taste was detected. People blamed all objectionable water tastes on chlorine.

Within the last five years much information has been gained about these tastes and odors, including their sources, and also methods of preventing and removing them. We know that chlorine may be the primary source of a disagreeable taste in a water, it may be a secondary cause increasing the objectionable quality of flavor due to another cause, or it may be entirely free from blame.

Mr. J. R. Baylis, who knows the subject as well as any one, is of the opinion that more than half the tastes of water are due to natural cause, principally growth or algae and other microorganisms. Such growth can occur in any good spring or well water which is reasonably pure and gets some sunlight and carbonic acid. Therefore, when a water develops a flavor the chance is more than even that neither industrial waste nor chlorine is responsible.

Next in importance he ranks industrial wastes. He lists sixteen industrial processes, beginning with by-product of coke ovens, that make large quantities of liquid waste capable of giving the commonly designated chlorine or fishy taste. In some instances it seems to be necessary for these enterprises to put their untreated wastes into lakes and streams. While chlorine used for making water safe may be a direct cause of odors, it is ranked far below the other two groups.

We are especially interested in the new methods of flavor prevention and removal. The best of these, for the average case, is known as activated carbon. Activated carbon is ordinary charcoal treated by heat in a way that increases 50 or more times its efficiency in removing taste and odor.

Second, he ranks compounds of ammonia and chlorine, going by the name chloramine, and related names. There are about six other good methods, each suited to certain circumstances.

Since the causes vary, as do the flavors, it is wise for a city that plans to install a method to have some investigations made and to adopt the method that best solves its problem. If it is found that the odor in a given case is due to an industrial waste, a city has the right to ask the industry at fault to purify its waste or to pay the cost of purification by means of an increased charge for water. If the taste is due to a natural cause the people should bear the cost of treatment.

ROOSEVELT'S TARIFF VIEWS.

Gov. Roosevelt's address on the tariff is not one that will give Republican leaders any worry. In fact, there has been a general hope in Republican circles that Gov. Roosevelt would commit himself to reduction of the tariff, and thus open the way for a vigorous Republican attack. Since the governor unhesitatingly denounced the Smoot-Hawley act, and demanded a reversal of the American tariff policy, his opponents will doubtless lose no time in making capital of it.

The fatal weakness in Gov. Roosevelt's address was his apparent lack of information on which to base his case. For example, he declared that the first effect of the 1930 tariff act was "to increase or sustain the cost of all that agriculture buys." Most of his argument was built on this assumption. Any manufacturer or business man could have informed Gov. Roosevelt that the price of finished products in the United States has declined 20 per cent since the tariff act became effective.

Most of the contradictions in this address arise from the fact that Gov. Roosevelt was trying to assure the farmer that industrial duties would be reduced to make the export of surplus crops easier, and to assure industry that nothing detrimental to its welfare is contemplated. Out of this conflict of desires comes the twisted logic of the following paragraph:

> Of course, the excessive, outrageously excessive rates in that bill as it became law, must come down. But we should not lower them beyond the point indicated (the point which will allow foreigners to compete on an equal basis with Americans in the United States market). Such revision of the tariff will injure no legitimate interest.

Gov. Roosevelt did not explain what interests he considers legitimate. Nor did he explain how a larger volume of foreign goods could be imported without encroachment upon some American industries, with consequent loss of employment. He advocates lower duties in the interests of expanding foreign trade, even though he would like to retain the benefits of high duties for American producers. This is another riddle that only Gov. Roosevelt can explain, and he probably won't attempt it.

Gov. Roosevelt can not expect the public to consider his indictment of the Smoot-Hawley act seriously, until he specifies what duties he would reduce. Most of the increased duties in that act are on agricultural products. Would he disturb these and thereby arouse the farmer's wrath? Would he reduce the duty on long staple cotton, butter, cheese, cement, steel products, shoes, wool or cattle? The simple truth is that no substantial reduction can be made in any schedule without exposing American workingmen to greater unemployment and distress in this critical time.

The kernel of Gov. Roosevelt's address lies in his demand for a tariff that "will put the American producers on a market equality with their foreign competitors". This is probably the most damaging doctrine enunciated in the whole Democratic campaign. There is no sentiment in the United States for admitting foreign goods into the American market on an equal basis with domestic products. Workingmen realize that such a policy would rob them of their jobs. Farmers know that more unemployment and industrial stagnation in the cities would mean a smaller market for their crops, regardless of what might happen to their meager export market.

No mention was made of the competition which American labor faces as a result of depreciated currency in other lands. Has Gov. Roosevelt overlooked this situation? A great many of the duties he referred to as "outrageously" excessive are levied against imports from Japan. Yet that country, which pays 50 per cent less for labor and materials than it did a year ago because of the depreciated yen, is shipping enormous quantities of merchandise into the United States without taking the slightest notice of the tariff wall. Several other countries with depreciated currency have also increased their imports in spite of both the tariff and the depression. By demanding lower tariffs without the slightest reference to this situation, Gov. Roosevelt lays himself open to a destructive counter-attack by Republican protectionists.

CRIPPLING THE R. F. C.

Confronted by the fact that his careless decision a month ago is destroying the usefulness of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, South Trimble, clerk of the House of Representatives, has decided to withhold from publication the relief agency's report, until he can make a further study of the situation. Mr. Trimble should have been more discreet in rendering his first decision. He can not remedy the damage that has already been done, but he can avoid further usurpation of authority which Congress did not give him.

Atlee Pomerene, Democratic chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, vigorously protested against publication of the names of borrowers and the amounts they receive. When the July report was released by Mr. Trimble the public withdrew funds from a number of banks that had borrowed from the R. F. C. The benefits of the loans were largely undone by this adverse publicity. Loans totaling $3,451,000 were rejected by the applicants after being approved by the relief agency because the prospective borrowers feared the results of publicity.

This situation is easily explained by the fact that 70 per cent of the banks obtaining loans are located in towns of less than 5,000 population. If a bank in such a community obtains a loan, every inhabitant knows it. Rumors that the bank is in an unsound position begin circulating and withdrawals result. No good but a great deal of positive harm comes from publicity in such cases.

The law does not require Mr. Trimble to publish the reports of the R. F. C. In taking that action, the Clerk of the House merely followed Speaker Garner's private interpretation of the statute. Mr. Trimble admits that his action was of questionable legality. Why, then, did he not follow the dictates of discretion and withhold the news until Congress could give him definite instructions? Now that he is presented with evidence of the damage resulting from his decision, it is to be hoped that he will not again give legal weight to Mr. Garner's wishes as expressed in congressional debate.

If Mr. Trimble takes no further action, the problem can be solved with the convening of Congress in December.

MAYOR WALKER AGAIN.

Former Mayor Walker of New York comes into the political picture again by reason of a reversal of the judicial opinion that a special election was not called for to fill the vacancy resulting from Mr. Walker's resignation. The supreme court holds that an election is necessary, and Tammany leaders are considering the question of nominating Mr. Walker on a platform of "vindication". It is said that the approval of Alfred E. Smith is highly desirable, as opposition by him would probably defeat Walker.

Mr. Walker is hurrying home from Italy and is anxious to enter the race. If Tammany Hall should back him, with Alfred E. Smith's approval, a situation embarrassing to Gov. Roosevelt would develop. Gov. Roosevelt would be accused of attempting to "lynch" Mr. Walker, and adherents of Tammany Hall would try to wreak vengeance on the governor.

Former Governor Smith's real attitude toward Gov. Roosevelt may be revealed by his decision in regard to the Walker candidacy. If he should compose his differences with Walker and support him for the mayoralty the action would be construed as inimical to Gov. Roosevelt. In the meantime some of Al Smith's most intimate friends are striving earnestly to induce him to support Roosevelt for the good of the Democratic party.

RELIEF FROM HURRICANES.

The most terrifying thing about a hurricane is that it may recur again and again, each time leaving a path of destruction and death in its wake. Puerto Rico was devastated in 1928. On several previous occasions the island has been swept by violent storms. It lies in a region where nature brews some of her most destructive gales. Consequently, the people must always be alert at this season of the year for a repetition of horrors they know too well.

No method is known whereby science can mitigate the violence of an earthquake or a hurricane. Yet it is possible to minimize the damage they can do. In areas where earthquakes are frequently felt the people are learning to build "quake-proof" houses. They have found that most of the damage done when a tremor passes through the crust of the earth is caused by the collapse of flimsy houses. The greatest precaution that can be taken against earthquakes, therefore, is the construction of buildings that will not shatter and fall when the earth buckles under them.

Why doesn't Puerto Rico take greater precautions against hurricanes by building more substantial houses? Nearly every report from the devastated areas indicates that most of the damage was inflicted on "poor-type" houses. Most of the flimsy structures that were not demolished lost their roofs. People were buried under the debris. Upwards of 150 were killed and more than 1,000 injured.

Puerto Rico can not hope to curb the violence of her storms, but the hazard to life and limb might be notably diminished. An insular project to build more secure homes seems to be in order. If such a plan could be carried out, it would relieve unemployment, while promoting safety.

THE WORLD SERIES.

How many millions of fans are in the seventh heaven of baseball delight as the annual seven-game climax is under way? For a starter the Yankees cleaned up the Cubs with somewhat humiliating decisiveness. Scores of 12 to 6 and 5 to 2, in games where the Westerners never had a chance, were rather unexpected. But the series has just begun. Journeying to Chicago to resume the contest, a multitude of Western rooters will be praying that the inspiration of the great home crowd will enable Charley Grimm's team, which made such a fine record in half a season, to even up New York's advantage gained in the Yankee stadium.

With the finish of its present brief monopoly upon sporting interest professional baseball will give way to amateur football. It is remarkable that two games so radically different and played under such widely differing conditions, should be the two preeminently popular sports. It is because they are both clean, rugged exhibitions that require both skill and brawn. The interest they develop is also largely due to the fact that millions of American boys engage in them with varying degrees of proficiency during their entire school life and grow up following the fortunes of home baseball teams and college elevens, developing enthusiasms which they always retain.

If the Yankees can duplicate their New York performance with two straight wins in Chicago it will be all over, but this is unlikely, and all good sports anticipate a closer contest.

Factory workers who would be thrown out of a job by Gov. Roosevelt's tariff policy are wondering how this would help the farmer.

The appointment of Capt. Edward J. Kelly to be head of the detective bureau is viewed with alarm in exclusive crime circles.

The 124,999,500 citizens who were not on Insull's "favored list" of "insiders" have no reason to complain of the depression.

When Gov. Roosevelt advises voters to ignore party ties he excludes his friend Al Smith.

GERMAN BATTLESHIPS

From the London Times.

The German government has ordered that the construction of the third 10,000-ton "pocket battleship," provisionally called Panzerschiff C, or Ersatz Braunschweig, shall be begun on October 1 in the naval dockyard at Wilhelmshaven, where the second "pocket battleship," the completion of which is expected in 1933, is already taking shape.

The first installment (4,300,000 marks) toward the total cost of the third ship was included in the naval and military estimates for 1932-1933, but a marginal note said that the government would not take a decision about the date of laying down pending the outcome of the disarmament discussions. According to the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, the decision to lay down the keel has now been taken because the disarmament conference has as yet yielded "no practical results."

The cost of the first "pocket battleship," already launched and now nearing completion at Kiel, has been given as 75,000,000 marks ($18,750,000) and of the second as 70,600,000 marks ($17,650,000). It is contemplated that the fourth ship shall be laid down next year. By the naval terms of the Versailles Treaty Germany may have six of these ships simultaneously in commission.

The Reichstag Socialist party has passed a unanimous resolution which, while upholding the national claim for equality of rights in armaments and protesting against the policy of the "capitalist governments" in preventing progress toward disarmament, says that the policy of the German government in demanding freedom in the organization of its armed forces is wrong.

The German claim, the resolution says, will give other nations the pretext of boundless competition in armaments, which must offer the greatest danger to Germany's security and lead the peoples to catastrophe. Only a policy of understanding on the basis of general equality of rights, of maintaining peace and of general disarmament can guarantee security. Any step in the direction of the German aide-memoire on armaments, especially those indicated in the numerous statements of the Reichswehr minister, Gen. von Schleicher, may lead Germany into political isolation, and cause the world to be welded together against Germany, and the "Versailles dictate" to be perpetuated.

The resolution demands "resolute resistance" to a government which comes forward with expensive armaments at a time of unprecedented economic crisis, of social misery and of wage reductions. The party protests "against the unloosing of nationalist and militarist instincts in any country, perceiving in this a threat to the freedom of the working classes and a peril to world peace."

POST HASTE.

New York has been repelling bear raids of the hardened old-timers recently, so it was no wonder the Cubs didn't have a chance.

By the time Gov. Roosevelt finishes taking on representatives of rump parties they can all reorganize as Mutual Admirocrats.

The war in the Gran Chaco that is not a war is one up on Manchuria, with a truce that is not a truce.

Gov. Roosevelt didn't quite tell the Iowa farmers he would cancel their mortgages if he were in the White House, but he is a grand intimator.

If you favor adding two and a half billions to the budget deficit next year, keep it in mind that if Gov. Roosevelt is elected President enough Democratic congressmen will probably also be elected to pass the bonus over a veto—if any.

As we envisage the Democratic campaign, criticism of the past and promises for the future do not take the place of action for the now.

New York's [illegible] city election is on again, and will it mess up national issues! Tammany's official refrain is "We love Presidents, but oh, you Mayor!"

The spirit may move you to change residence today, but you've got to fall back on the expressman to deliver the goods.

Gene Tunney gains the lightweight political prognostication championship in Paris by announcing that U. S. prohibition will end next June. But why keep this from us before sailing?

Gov. Roosevelt calls this "the greatest spending administration in peace times in our history," but without explaining, of course, that emergency relief expenditures are more than ten times as great this year as the total cost of all bureaus and commissions combined.

Gov. Roosevelt launches a good many suggestions in his mystic maze tariff policy, but he ties a string to every one so that it can not go very far.

"Washington voters can register in 25 States." That seems to offer possibilities exceeding repeating in four wards of the old home town.

Possibly the easiest hurricane remedy for little Puerto Rico would be to tow it to the other side of the Windward Islands.

Mum's the bonus word for both the Democratic candidates, which sounds like adding champagne to real beer.

ENOUGH AND MORE.

I've always said the home should be
The place where they might romp at will,
From all severe restrictions free
And never deadly dull and still;
But I confess I never thought
These walls should ever house the tones
Of two brass trumpets, newly bought,
And three unpracticed saxophones.

"Come home," said I, in earlier days,
"And bring your happy friends along!"
Believing when a youngster strays
Elsewhere to play there's something wrong.
But now since jazz is all the rage
Our peaceful dwelling fairly groans
With wailings of the modern age
Produced by horns and saxophones.

In vain we sit and try to read,
In vain at last to bed we go,
But sleep is difficult indeed
Where saxophones and bugles blow.
And this to mother I declare:
"Though I'm the pleasantest of men,
The other parents ought to share
This dreadful racket now and then."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

District of Columbia Should Contain 400 Square Miles to Care for Nation's Business.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I agree with your correspondent, F. J. Miller, that the slice of the District of Columbia grabbed back by Virginia in 1846 should be restored.

What Mr. Miller says is true. The National Capital in its rapid growth needs all of the original territory so as to have "100 square miles of area instead of 70 square miles as at present."

And in fact I don't think that is enough. It would only take in a portion of what is called the metropolitan area.

The District of Columbia should now be increased to 400 square miles. At least that much will not many years from now be necessary for the good of business and the smooth operation of local laws and regulations if we pay attention to the changes which have taken place since the District was made ten miles square in the Constitution.

The great men who gave us the Constitution had no idea that the business of the United States would ever consist of bureaus requiring a town of half a million people to run them. If they had, they would have provided more room than they did for the seat of the Government.

Jobs Are Made by Activity in Building and Loosening Up—Get Busy!

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: This vast country of 48 great Commonwealths, enjoying a home market of many billions, beside which the foreign trade is a bagatelle, was developed by the protective tariff. The internationalists are now trying to tear down the tariff walls.

Jobs are made in this country by our unceasing rebuilding residences, stores, street cars, automobiles, roads, bridges and what not. In a country like ours this can go on indefinitely, increasing with the population.

If you have old clothes still serviceable don't wear them threadbare, but buy new ones and give the old ones to some charitable agency. There are plenty of people who still have ample incomes to buy and build. Unnecessary stinting will not break the depression. It will not advance the price of your stocks and bonds.

For three years Hoover has had his coat off, trying every conceivable means of breaking the depression. I believe every business man in the land before election day will be worried sick for fear he will not be re-elected. Take your choice between work and new and untried theories, sawing wood and brilliant oratory; but one thing you can do, and that is loosen up.

Unstable Equilibrium Resulted From Sale of Babe Ruth — Millionaire Clubs Have Advantage.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial, "Helping the League," in re the sale of Simmons, Haas and Dykes by Connie Mack to the White Sox, has my hearty approval in so far as it states the need for a more equable balance of teams in the junior baseball circuit. But I do not think that high-priced sales of star players will help in bringing about the desired result. It gives too much advantage to millionaire baseball bosses. It discourages the training of young players by major-league clubs, and that is a feature which interests baseball fans all the year round.

Give every club a fair show for the pennant by doing away with high prices for stars, and I believe a decided increase of interest in the game will follow. When Babe Ruth was sold for the record high price by the Red Sox to the Yankees it caused a condition of unstable equilibrium in the American League which has lasted from that day to this.

City Guy Sick of Talk About Farm Poverty—No Homeless Farmers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I get thoroughly disgusted every time I pick up a paper to see nothing but farmer—farmer—farmer—their hard times and extreme poverty. This is just so much vote getting bunk.

I was born and reared in a farming district, and it is not nearly as tragic as the public is led to believe. A farmer has his three square meals a day, no matter how low prices go. They banked plenty during our years of prosperity. The average farmer spent lavishly, most of them owning one and two pleasure cars, sending sons and daughters to college the same as their city brothers. The farmer eats regularly and he needs to sell little to clothe himself. He has a place to sleep. How many homeless farmers are there? How many homeless city men?

There has been so much talk by political candidates of the farmers' poverty that they—the farmers—believe it themselves now.

My parents are farmers. I know what I'm talking about. E. C. J.

Suggests a Drive on Dirty and Obscure License Plates—An Automobile Can Not Be Identified If the License Number Can Not Be Read.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have noticed a great many license plates on trucks that are practically hidden from view because of being placed so far under the trucks. Then, there are license plates on both private and commercial automobiles that are so covered with mud, dirt, grease and exhaust smoke that the numbers on them can not be read. Whenever an automobile bearing hidden or dirty license plates passes an officer he should warn the owner to clean up the plates or place them on the truck where they are visible. License plates on automobiles are placed there for the purpose of identification. In the case of dirty or illegible license plates the automobile bearing such tags may be handled by criminals and get away. Public safety requires that all automobiles should be readily identified.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: Among my acquaintances are a few middle-aged maidens who resigned themselves to lonely seclusion and lost contact with the world when domineering parents denied them the right to marry the man they loved.

Tragedies of that kind are rare now, for girls are no longer afraid to think for themselves; but these few cases were enough to convince me that parents can meddle too much, and I resolved long ago to accept your choice without complaint if you waited until you were grown-up to make it.

Of course I have ideas on the subject. I don't want you to marry a man who can't make a living for you. And before you commit yourself, I'd like to know something of the youngster's family history and see a doctor's certificate attesting his physical soundness.

In all other matters, however, I am willing to trust your good taste and common sense—with one exception.

No matter what means of persuasion I must employ, and no matter how great the hurt to your pride or your heart, I won't let you marry a drunkard.

I'm not referring to the fellows who take an occasional drink. Most of them do that now. It's a risky business for some temperaments, but it isn't proof of rottenness.

I suppose the easiest way to distinguish between the "safe drinker" and the drunkard is to discover whether he drinks in the morning after drinking too much at night.

Some drunkards are charming during their periods of sobriety. Women love them at sight—possibly because they are weaklings and seem to need mothering. But the woman who marries one of them must pay for every day of happiness with many days of shame, fear and misery.

The wives of all drunkards wear the same look—a look of despair and desperation and helpless shame. Their hearts are always heavy and they never are free of dread.

The woman who marries a drinker usually marries abuse, infidelity and ultimate wretched poverty.

Keep away from one if you find you are beginning to like him. And remember that any high-strung chap who fools with liquor may be trapped by it after you have learned to love him. Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

G. O. P. Bolters.

Houston Post.

Every day it becomes clearer that the Republican party is in a worse predicament now than it has been at any other time since the split in 1912 when Theodore Roosevelt bolted and organized the Progressive party. One difference between 1912 and 1932 is that in this year there has been no effort to organize a third party on a national scale, though independent groups are springing up here and there which will draw strength from the G. O. P.

As the Democratic party profited from the split in the Republican party in 1912, so the Democratic party will profit from the divisions in the Republican party in numerous States in 1932. All these manifestations of dissatisfaction in the Republican fold forecast an increased vote for Democratic candidates for Senate and House and for Franklin Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for the Presidency.

But Who Got the $50?

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Colorado donkey rolling down hill kicked up $50 worth of gold quartz. If that isn't a good Democratic omen, what is one?

Yet Congress Did Act.

Brooklyn Eagle.

It is fairly certain that the Democrats will not attempt to reorganize the Senate, or assume party responsibility for what is done, even if Roosevelt should be elected in November.

As for the Republicans, the administration group is helpless. It has passed over the chairmanship of the most important committees to the insurrectionist group, to hold that group's support. It can accomplish nothing in the way of legislation. It can pull through no nomination for any office that the President may make, without Democratic aid. And no ratification of any contested treaty is likely before the ending of Mr. Hoover's present presidential term.

Gov. Roosevelt and the Seaway.

Minneapolis Journal.

The St. Lawrence seaway is a project of vital importance to the Northwest. A treaty with Canada for its construction has been submitted to the Senate.

Just where does Franklin D. Roosevelt stand on the ratification of that treaty? If elected President, would he sincerely and energetically back the project which, chiefly by the efforts of President Hoover, has been brought to the brink of execution?

Gov. Roosevelt comes from New York, which has its own barge canal and which has persistently sought to sidetrack the St. Lawrence seaway project by getting the Federal Government to take over the barge canal and to enlarge it into a ship canal.

Where does Gov. Roosevelt stand as between the practicable, low cost St. Lawrence seaway and the impracticable, extravagantly costly plan to float ships through his own State?

The Courage of Hoover.

Kansas City Times.

That President Hoover should go to Iowa, into the heart of farm unrest, for an address on agriculture is characteristic of the man. It is suggestive of Mr. Hoover's sympathy with the farmers and their problem, a feeling that naturally arises from his own trying boyhood experiences in the State. But it is suggestive as well of the courageous stand that the President has taken on the troublesome and pressing issues of the last few years. It is suggestive of his position on the soldier bonus, on the farm relief question itself, on the maintenance of a sound currency, on the nature of Federal assistance in time of stress and on numerous other matters that have demanded attention.

W. C. T. U. MEETING IN ALEXANDRIA ENDS

Resolutions Adopted Stress Support for Prohibition Candidates.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The "Golden Glow" convention of the Virginia State Women's Christian Temperance Union closed its four-day sessions in Alexandria with a banquet in the George Mason Hotel, Thursday night with a program in which the Rev. H. M. Hoge, Mrs. Amy C. Weech and Mrs. Emma H. Howland were the speakers. In 1933, or Golden Jubilee, a convention will be held in Richmond.

Collections of pledge money were received from unions throughout the State, and 85 flags were presented for enrolling new members.

Red satin badges were presented to Strasburg, Crozet, Nokesville, Nelson and East End Richmond unions for the largest gains; blue badges were presented to Staunton, Waynesboro, Centralia, Nokesville, Leesburg, Park View, Ocean View, Unity, Frances Willard and York unions. Standards of excellence were awarded to the Crozet, Clarendon, Willard-Pierpont, Hampton, West Point, Staunton and Clifford unions. Directors and departments awarded prizes were Mrs. Walter Page, Mrs. Edith Payne, Mrs. E. J. Montague, Mrs. Samuel Hodges, Mrs. A. W. Hooks, Mrs. Laura Hoge, Mrs. M. H. Day, Mrs. F. T. Leftwich (State publicity), Mrs. Amy C. Weech, Mrs. E. P. Allegood and Mrs. Etta Brown, the last two being for 100 per cent.

Resolutions adopted by the convention deplored the use of alcohol as a habit-forming drug and a poison, injuring all who use it physically, mentally and morally. They pledged their services for retention of the eighteenth amendment, to rid the country of illegal and legal sale of alcoholic liquor, and to support only those members of Congress and others voting for retention of the eighteenth amendment. The platform concluded with "recognizing that peaceful methods for settlement of disputes and misunderstandings between nations must be substituted for war, and to this we pledge our sincere cooperation."

Zone Body Accused In Rendering Case

Suit Is to Be Filed Today Charging Ordinance Violation.

Claims that two subsections of the Arlington County zoning ordinance were violated when the zoning appeal board granted the permit to Norton & Co., for the erection and establishment of a rendering plant at the intersection of the Washington-Richmond highway and Columbia pike are charged in a petition prepared by Attorney Amos C. Crounse, which he says will be filed in the circuit court of Arlington County today, seeking a review by the court of the action of the zoning appeal board.

The petition is in the name of the county board and Clyde M. Mills and J. O. Basham, citizens, asking that the court review and reverse the decision of the zoning appeal board.

Sections of the ordinance claimed to have been violated as set forth in the petition are subsection 7 of section 8, which prohibits the use in heavy industrial areas of any premises for the distillation of bones, and subsection 13 of section 8, which prohibits the use in heavy industrial areas of any premises for the incineration of garbage, other than state or county owned, approved by the board of supervisors, dead animals or refuse.

Washington Man Gets Year on Check Charge

Ross B. Rodgers, of Washington, was sentenced to one year in the State penitentiary yesterday by a jury of the circuit court of Fairfax County, Va. The charges against F. K. Shulmire and Joseph Scott were nolle prossed by Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr.

The trio were charged with the theft of a check amounting to $265 from the store of James E. Nickell in Fairfax. Shulmire and Scott were arrested in Alexandria when they attempted to purchase some merchandise in an Alexandria store with the check. When they were arrested they stated that it had been given them by Rodgers, who was later arrested in Washington.

Club Takes In 75 Boys Lacking Cash

While 75 youngsters stood on the sidewalk shivering in the cold night air and gazed longingly at the beckoning portals of the Washington Boys Club at 230 C street, more than 400 boys ranging in ages from 8 to 18 from all sections of the city were receiving their membership cards for the coming season and having the time of their lives with the various recreational diversions in the warm gym of the club, at the official opening last night.

However, this situation was quickly remedied when C. M. Fyfe, director of the club, learned that there were a number of boys standing outside.

Mr. Fyfe deserted the business of issuing membership cards and went out to see what the trouble was and why the boys did not come into the club. The explanation the director got is understandable.

The boys were afraid to go in because they did not have the $1.50 to pay the membership fee.

Mr. Fyfe wasted no time. He herded the shivering boys inside the club and told them that they could get their cards whether they had any money or not. He went on to explain that the membership fee could be paid in any way that would suit the boy.

So 75 boys, no longer sorrowful, added their highly elated spirits and voices to the already happy din and melee in the gym.

EDGE AND STIMSON CONFER ON TREATY

Ambassador Also Lunches at White House; To Take Part in Campaign.

(Associated Press.)

Ambassador Walter E. Edge called at the State Department and conferred for two hours yesterday with Secretary Stimson and other State Department officials on the French commercial treaty which is being negotiated. Later he lunched with President Hoover.

"I don't consider any of the difficulties which have arisen in the negotiation of the commercial treaty with France as at all insurmountable," Edge told newspapermen.

He said reports that the treaty will not be pressed until after the presidential election are erroneous, and he hopes that within two or three days certain differencies may be adjusted in such a way that negotiations may proceed in Paris.

Asked whether he would take any part in the political campaign, Edge said he came over primarily on the treaty negotiations but that after mooted questions have been ironed out in connection with the treaty, he will participate in the campaign.

He plans to go to New Jersey over the week-end and to return to Washington for a day or two early next week.

The firemen discussed plans for the membership campaign now being conducted by the department, which it is hoped will bring the public spirited residents of the community to membership in the department. Two new members were elected and the applications of five others receivd at the meeting.

The meeting was late in starting as the firemen were called to a roof fire at the home of R. W. Digges, 10 East Lenox street, just as the meeting was called to order. The fire was quickly extinguished with small damage and the firemen trooped back to their interrupted meeting.

THE BUSINESS MAN DOCTOR.

(Mr. Edward A. Filene, noted merchant, addressing a medical convention, declared that physicians should adopt more businesslike methods in conducting their profession.—News item.)

PATIENT (on telephone)—Hello. Is this Dr. Dooble?

Secretary—This is Dr. Dooble's third vice president in charge of operations.

Patient—I want the doctor at once.

Secretary—Have you an account with us or is this new business?

Patient—I've an account. The name is Puddicombe, Felix Puddicombe.

Secretary (after a few moments)—I don't find you on the books. Are you sure you have the right doctor?

Patient—Certainly. But this is the first time I've needed him in years.

Secretary—Oh, that explains it. The doctor recently went through an audit and a complete reorganization.

Patient—Reorganization?

Secretary—Yes, he was terribly unsystematized. A reorganization was necessary to eliminate waste and get a fair yield on the capital investment. You'd be surprised to know the leaks we found. We were barely covering fixed charges and——

Patient (anxiously) — But the doctor is all right now, isn't he?

Secretary—Oh, yes, indeed. Why he has a break-up value of over $50,000 right now!

Patient—Lissen; I've gotta get him right away. It's urgent.

Secretary—Just a minute; I'll see if he can talk to you.

Dr. Dooble (eventually)—Hello. What can I do for you?

Patient—This is Felix Puddicombe. Come over at once.

Dr. Dooble—I can't come this morning. I'm taking inventory.

Patient—How about this afternoon?

Dr. Dooble—No, this afternoon I'm holding my quarterly meeting. You'll be glad to know that business is definitely on the uptrend. I covered all fixed charges during the last quarter and showed a slight profit. I consider myself fundamentally sound and am facing the future with confidence that the worst is over and——

Patient (exasperated)—Doctor, you must come at once. It's most important. Mrs. Puddicombe is having a baby.

Dr. Dooble—A baby? Well, I suppose I'll have to do something, but it will be rather expensive.

Patient—How much?

Dr. Dooble—My new rate is $500 an infant, when, as and if.

Patient (aghast)—Five hundred dollars!

Dr. Dooble—Yes, and believe me, I'm losing money.

Norfolk & Western Pays $1,143,000 Tax

Richmond, Va., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Virginia's largest single taxpayer, the Norfolk & Western Railway, has paid its State tax bill with a check for $1,143,000. This "doesn't mean the State has plenty of money," State Treasurer John M. Purcell said in commenting on the check. "On Saturday my office will advance approximately this amount to the counties for schools. So you see, the State won't have the money very long." Among other large taxpayers are the Virginian, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Southern, and the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac railways.

JUDGE Eugene O. Sykes, Federal radio commissioner sent by President Hoover as head of the American delegation to the International Radio-telegraph Congress at Madrid, is apparently giving a good account of himself.

"His firmness and thorough understanding of the situation have given Judge Sykes a commanding position in the congress." Theodore A. Ediger, Madrid correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writes in the Paris edition of that paper. "So ticklish is the problem of allocating radio frequencies to meet modern requirements throughout the world that many of the delegates frankly see no way out of the impasse."

The congress has some 3,500 questions before it, but in the first two weeks only 16 were decided, and these such minor matters as the definition of radio-telegraphy and the purpose of the congress. Many of the European countries have no apparent interest in buckling down to business.

"WHEN radio played its first rampant part in the 1924 political campaign, there were predictions that the days of the traveling candidate were nearing an end," Orrin E. Dunlap, radio editor of the New York Times, writes. "A new era was in sight. The candidate, whether it be for the Presidency, governorship or Congress, could save time and expense by facing a mute microphone in a comfortable studio and talk to the electorate. Politics was being simplified by broadcasting. Lone radio words would enter the homes of many millions and clutch the votes. That was the futuristic idea of campaigning eight years ago.

"Time proves it otherwise. Radio does not replace personal appearance in politics or in the theater. It is a supplementary agency in reaching the multitudes. Politicians have learned that they must take to the road and take the microphone with them. The people are anxious or curious to see them, and so 1932 finds Gov. Roosevelt on a coast-to-coast tour and Hoover mapping an itinerary for an autumnal trip to at least three strategic centers."

YANKEES AND CUBS RESUME SERIES AT CHICAGO

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

Chicago, Sept. 30.

AL SIMMONS will now take his stance at the plate with his foot in the White Sox bucket instead of the Athletics' water receptacle that he made famous with his lofty batting averages, and this department understands that there are many angles to the strictly cash deal.

The shipment of Mule Haas and Jimmy Dykes along with Simmons to the Chicago Club, has all the earmarks of an economic necessity on the part of Part Owner Connie Mack and the Shibes, who hold the controlling interest in the Athletics. It is significant that the only consideration on the part of the White Sox was the long green, the mazuma.

The A's were carrying a tortuous load in the salaries of Simmons, Foxx, Grove, Earnshaw and Dykes, the only club in the majors to boast four men over the $20,000 rate per annum and five men over $10,000. Their pay roll exceeded the Yankees' wage outlay not excluding Ruth's $70,000 stipend.

Lack of Sunday Baseball Factor in Deal.

With Sunday baseball a legislative impossibility in Philadelphia, the Athletics for the past few seasons have been unable to stagger home with only slight profits at the end of the campaign, and I have it on good authority that last year, going into the series, the club was $20,000 in the red despite the pennant victory.

This year the Athletics were no howling success at the turnstiles, and with such men as Simmons drawing $33,333 per year, and Grove drawing $25,000, commanding holdover contracts for next season, the economical plight of the Mackmen is obvious. There could be no retrenchment on these long term contracts.

Simmons Loafed on Job Last Season.

The trade involving Simmons and Dykes, two of the high-salaried gentry, presented a temporary solution to the salary problem, with the cash from the White Sox aiding in the relief of the club's exchequer, but the release of Simmons came as no surprise to Philadelphia baseball writers.

Simmons' attitude on the ball field long has been a sore spot with the venerable and easy-going Mack. The slugger long ago began to run out his infield grounders as if it were a job for his valet. His play in the outfield suggested that chasing ground balls some times was quite beneath his dignity, and it was only a question when the tensile strength of Mack's patience would snap at this sort of thing.

More than any one factor, perhaps, the sensational play of Roger Cramer in the outfield, made up Mack's mind to rid the team and the pay roll of Simmons.

G. W. ELEVEN WINS OVER WESTMINSTER UNDER LIGHTS, 24-0

6,000 Watch Colonials in Impressive Home Debut; Fenlon and Carter Share Honors With Brilliant Play of Linemen.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S football team, their red, white and blue uniforms weaving a scrambled American flag on the mangy turf at Griffith Stadium, bumped off Westminster College, of New Wilmington, Pa., last night, 24 to 0, as an early fall mist cast a delicate veil over 6,000 rabid home-town fans.

Unfurling the twin challenges of a speedy running attack with a line that was all but invulnerable, George Washington won as it pleased over the beefy Pennsylvanians, making full use of its reserve material and disdaining to unleash its vaunted aerial offense.

Fenlon and Carter Shine.

Paced by Johnny Fenlon, quarter back, and Joe Carter, the latter making his first appearance of the year, the G. W. ball carriers bucked and dodged their way to 24 first downs and 413 yards of ground, while the hard-bitten Colonial line held Westminster to three widely scattered first downs and a scant 67 accredited yards, 17 of these through passes.

Eight fumbles, five of them deep down in Westminster territory, ruined the Colonials' chances of running the score up into national debt figures. Considering the rare occasions upon which the Westminster team had the ball, they too possessed buttery fingers, with four fumbles to their discredit. These miscues, however, injected an element of suspense in the game which the vast superiority of the G. W. team was prone to eradicate.

FIRST QUARTER — George Washington lost no time in scoring its first touchdown four minutes after the opening whistle. Climaxing a drive from midfield, John Fenlon, spark plug of the Colonial attack, romped around right end for a touchdown from the 10-yard line. Kriemelmeyer missed the kick.

Fenlon thus wiped out his boner of two minutes before, when he fumbled on the 5-yard line after leading his team within a shadow of the Westminster goal. G. W. scored its second touchdown midway in the period. The way was paved by Finis Parrish, fleet G. W. half back, who took a punt from Scarborough and dashed 35 yards through the Westminster team to Westminster's 25-yard line. Johnny Fenlon, shaking off tacklers like old Dobbin brushing away flies, cavorted around right end 22 yards to Westminster's 3-yard line, from which point Kriemelmeyer burst through the middle for a touchdown, Kriemelmeyer again missed a try for the extra point.

The whistle that ended the period checked a determined G. W. march on Westminster's 35-yard line.

SECOND QUARTER — With the start of the second quarter, G. W. completed a march which the whistle ending the first quarter had halted. Joe Carter, making his first appearance in the patriotic G. W. uniform since an injury to his ankle, personally conducted a drive to Westminster's 10-yard line, at which point he nullified his spirited work by fumbling the canary yellow ball. Siljander flopped his massive bulk on the ball, claiming it for Westminster, but his cohorts could make no more headway against the hard-bitten G. W. line than can a popcorn ball against the side of a battleship, and Sweeney punted to midfield, where Johnny Fenlon started a successful Colonial expedition by zigzagging to Westminster's 35-yard line. Here Carter once more took up the task, ripping off short iron-legged bucks to the Westminster's 7-yard line. With the ball at this point, Carter took the pass from center, started for the right-hand side of the line, saw it was plugged up by swirling humanity, changed his course, like the corner at right angle, and speeded around the end unhampered to give G. W. a lead of 18 to 0. Capt. Wayne Chambers maintained G. W.'s 1,000 per cent average on misplacement kicks for the season by flubbing the attempt for the extra point.

What looked like G. W.'s fourth touchdown proved to be only a mirage. G. W.'s backs, clicking like a million dollars, pushed back the beefy Westminsters' front wall to the 15-yard line, but here the stubborn 230-pound bulk of Babe Dishong, Westminster tackle, injected itself into the proceedings. Dishong waddled through the line and engulfed little Johnny Fenlon in his arms for a 5-yard loss. This surprising display of agility on the part of one of the slowest football players of all time squelched G. W. for the remainder of the period.

THIRD QUARTER — Two potent George Washington offensives bogged down in the third quarter after both of them seemed destined to succeed. Nig McCarver, making his first appearance in varsity competition, emerged from a long exchange of kicks at the start of the period to sprint 15 yards through a broken field to Westminster's 25-yard line, but Bob Galloway, substitute G. W. end, who was playing a whale of a defensive game, frustrated the threat when he butterfingered Fenlon's pass within 3 yards of the goal.

In an exchange of kicks between Sweeney and Kriemelmeyer, Westminster gained the ball on its own 20-yard line, where Scarborough fumbled on the first play and Kriemelmeyer recovered. McCarver burst through the right side of the line to Westminster's 15-yard line, but Parrish fumbled when he was tackled by Scarborough on the 7-yard line, Scarborough recovered and Sweeney punted Westminster out of danger.

FOURTH QUARTER—Joe Carter, bringing new life into the slightly tiring G. W. backfield, brought the crowd to its feet when he took command of the ball in midfield and with slight aid from Paul McKinnis rushed the ball, in successive first downs along an unstopable 50-yard march, climaxed in stirring fashion, when he slipped around end to score George Washington's fourth touchdown from the 10-yard line. Fenlon missed a dropkick.

The final whistle caught the Colonials once more hammering at the Westminster goal. A pass, Fenlon to Parrish, advanced the ball 17 yards to Westminster's 40-yard line as the opening note of this final drive. Fenlon skipped around end to the 34-yard line; McKinnis was good for a couple more and Fenlon butted to a first down on the 26-yard line and followed this with a hip-switching run to the 3-yard line, but Siljander tossed the little G. W. dynamo for a 4-yard loss as the game ended.

Catholic U. Opens Grid Season Today

Practices in New York for City College Game There Today.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 30.—A big confident Catholic University team worked out at Lewisohn Stadium here today and is expected to ride easily over City College of New York tomorrow afternoon in the initial game of the year for both teams.

The odds on C. U. lengthened even more today when it was found that four of the C. C. N. Y. regulars were scholastically ineligible. C. U., with perhaps the most potent team in its grid history, is expected to win by three or four touchdowns. The score last year was 53-18.

There is a possibility that Catholic University will not risk using many reserves, preferring to keep its first team in the game and pile up a big score. The reason is that the team will make another appearance in New York this season, meeting the burly Manhattan College Team October 22.

Most of tomorrow's substituting is expected to center around the quarter back post. Charlie McVean, regular signal caller, is on the semi-injured list with a bad ankle. Pat Montague, a 130-pounder, will play for him during part of the game and probably Gene Augusterfer, hefty former St. John's youth, the rest of the game.

VINES TAKES BRIDE.

Pasadena, Calif., Sept. 30 (A.P.)—Ellsworth Vines, jr., national singles tennis champion, and Miss Verle Lowe, of Pasadena, were married tonight at the bride's home by the Rev. H. H. Stranburg, Methodist pastor. Only intimate friends and relatives attended.

Mount St. Mary's Is Foe Today in Battle at Stadium.

Al Kelly, Sprint Star, in His Grid Debut; D. C. Boys Here.

SEVERAL thousand football fans, assembled in Griffith Stadium this afternoon, will have one of their major surprises of the year when Georgetown University, sans the blare of trumpeting publicity, stalks out on the field. The 1932 Hoya grid machine, forged by the knowing hands of Coach Tom Mills, promises to be one of the greatest in the 57 years of the school's grid career.

Mount St. Mary's, with a light and aerial minded team, is Georgetown's initial assailant today, the game to start at 2 o'clock. The Hilltoppers, with perhaps the best assortment of backs ever coralled during one school year, should win as they please.

Hoya Line Has Shown Improvement.

The Hoya line, brawny but stumbling, has shown a marked increase in caliber this week, and looked particularly potent yesterday when the final workout was staged at Griffith Stadium. The line is flanked by two of the ablest ends in the Middle Atlantic region, Capt. Ray Hudson and Tom Carolan.

The opening Georgetown backfield will be composed of Mike Lione, quarter back; Joe Alenty and Nick Viskovich, half backs, and Johnnie Shimmens, full back. Probably three complete Georgetown back fields will see service before the game is over, including Al Kelly, 190-pound bolt of lubricated lightning, whose excursions into the sporting pages heretofore have been through the medium of track.

Joe Lynch and Jack Hopkins, backs and Jimmy Montague, tackle, are the triple threats of the Mount St. Mary's outfit, if the Baltimoreans can be said to boast of any of these three-ply wonders.

Bouts Are Canceled At Twin City Arena

Wednesday's boxing show at the Twin City Arena, Laurel, Md., was canceled last night by Promoter C. E. Cornell because of unseasonable weather. Jimmy Reed and Ray Bowen had been matched for the feature bout. Cornell announced that no more shows would be staged at the arena this year, but that operations would be resumed early in the spring.

Hitting the Headpin

WITH Whip Litchfield showing the way, Convention Hall swept its District League math with Rendezvous at the hall last night. Whip rattled the pins for a 389 set. Howard Parsons' 165 game was the highest of the evening. Rendezvous succumbed by the wide margin of 1,577 to 1,755.

Chester Bild shone with a 338 set, including a high game of 138, as Temple Hand Laundry shellaced Ye Old Tobacco Shoppe for a three-game victory in the National Capital League at Lucky Strike.

Colonial Ice Cream put another whitewash on the books when it applied the brush to Baltimore & Ohio Passenger Department in another National Capital League match. Joe Pricci's 136 score in his second ten boxes, and his set of 366 led the field. Buck Miller, of Baltimore, rolling for the railroaders, clipped the maples for a 343 set.

Paul Bryan bagged top honors as Judd & Detweiler won a 2-to-1 decision over Fountain Hams in the National Capital League. Paul rolled a 380 set with his 142 game high. Norman Scroth led the Hams to victory in the first game with a 154 effort. The second game was tied at 558, with the Printers winning the roll-off.

Mother and Daughter Seeking Graw Purses

Special to The Washington Post.

Havre de Grace Race Track, Sept. 30.—The mare Tinita munched her oats in the barn here today awaiting her next race while her daughter made her debut. Miss Teenie, an undersized filly by Sir Graysteel—Tinita, paraded to the post on the same track, where her dam was an "also ran" the other day. This situation is unique in turf history, few mares having raced after dropping a foal.

Tinita won at Bowie last fall at a $214 mutuel. At that moment, Miss Teenie was being educated to racing at Bennings. Both are owned by Breckenridge Long, former Assistant Secretary of State.

VAN WIE AND VARE PLAY FOR TITLE

Glenna and Virginia in 4th Finals for Women's Crown.

By BILL KING.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 30 (A.P.)—The unwritten golf rule that compels Glenna Collett Vare and Virginia Van Wie to play for the women's national championship in the even years was obeyed today in the semifinal matches on the Salem Country Club's layout.

Glenna qualified for her seventh final since 1922 and, incidentally, for the fifth time in a row, by overwhelming Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, a former Canadian titlist, by 5 and 4, after a wretched start.

Miss Van Wie kept pace with her archrival by wiping out the early two-hole lead of Charlotte Glutting, of Short Hills, N. J., jumping ahead at the turn and turning the match at the fifteenth hole with a 4 and 3 victory, after winning three holes in a row.

Glenna and the Chicago girl have met so many times, that neither can remember the exact number, the places or the scores. Three of their battles, however, are in the record book for they were fought in this championship quest.

Mrs. Vare Won Easily.

Four years ago Mrs. Vare became champion for the third time by defeating Miss Van Wie by the stupendous margin of 13 and 12 at Hot Springs, Va., in 1930. At Los Angeles, both traveled into the final round again, but Virginia had improved, losing by but 6 and 5.

Their last meeting came in one of the 1931 semifinals at Buffalo, where Mrs. Vare's margin was reduced to two up. The next day Glenna yielded her championship to Helen Hicks, of Long Island, who gave this year's tourney the first of its many upsets by falling in the qualifying test.

Mrs. Vare played what is spotty golf for her during all of the match but it was good enough to outclass the Canadian, who ruined her slim chances by getting off the line with her long game.

Miss Van Wie and Miss Glutting, who caused the greatest upheaval of the week by beating out Enid Wilson, the two-time British champion, on the last hole yesterday, played a much tighter semifinal.

Hawks Open Season At Stadium Tomorrow

Artie Wondrack's Mohawk gridders open their season tomorrow at Griffith Stadium, opposing the Philadelphia Yellowjackets in a game starting at 2:30 o'clock. Tex Hamer, former University of Pennsylvania star, is coach of the Yellowjackets, who boast one of the strongest professional teams in the eastern part of the State. George Moore, former member of the Apaches, will play with the Hawks.

Ganzel's Home Run Wins for Millers, 2-1

Beats Newark in Tenth to Gain 2 to 1 Edge in Little World Series.

Ruppert Stadium, Newark, N. J., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—A smashing home run over the left field bleachers ended a ten-inning pitching classic today and sent the Minneapolis Millers into a one-game lead over Newark's Bears in the little world series, feature attraction of minor league baseball.

The Millers have won two games of the series to the Bears' one.

Foster Ganzel, third baseman of the American Association pennant winners, caught one of Pete Jablonowski's fast balls in the first half of the tenth and the ride his bat gave it presented a 2 to 1 triumph to southpaw Dutch Henry.

SERIES PICTURES AT FOX.

First shots of the New York Yankees triumphing over the Chicago Cubs in the opening game of the world series are featured in a newsreel at Loew's Fox Theater this week. Lou Gehrig is shown knocking the first home run of the series.

GRIFFS TO OPEN SEASON.

The Griffith-Blue Coal football team will open its season Sunday, opposing the Brentwood Hawks at 1 o'clock on the Fairlawn Field. All Griffs are to meet at the Home Theater at noon.

3,500 Crowd At Stadium Dedication

Western High Defeats St. John's, 14-6, on New Grid Field.

Reynolds' Score in Final Period Sews Up Game.

WESTERN HIGH SCHOOL dedicated its new stadium yesterday afternoon and then proceeded to open its season with a 14-6 victory over St. Alban's on the new field. A crowd of 3,500 turned out for the fray.

The dedication ceremonies were held in the school auditorium before a distinguished audience. Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools; Allan Davis, principal of Roosevelt; Bryan Morse, former athletic head, and Coach Dan Ahern, of Western, delivered brief addresses. A tablet, honoring the late Duncan Bradley, who worked unceasingly to obtain the new playing field for the school, was unveiled by his son, Duncan B. Bradley. It will be placed in the stadium later.

The usual quantity of raggedness was evident in the work of both teams in the game. St. Alban's displayed surprising strength, although Western was held in check to some extent by Coach Ahern.

Western First to Score.

The red-shirted gridders scored first, the touchdown following a St. Alban's fumble in the first period. Reds Reynolds carried the ball over and added the extra point with a placement kick. Western's back field gave a fine individual performance, but as a unit evidenced a need of further practice.

St. Alban's came within an ace of tying the score in the third period when Mike Henderson slipped around left end for a 35-yard run and the score. A line plunge for the extra point failed.

Jack Lynham, Western full back, toted the oval 90 yards for an apparent touchdown, only to have the play called back and his team penalized for being off-side.

Reynolds tallied the second Western six-pointer near the end of the final quarter after the ball had been worked deep into the enemy territory on a series of line plays. He also added the extra point.

SCENE OF SERIES SHIFTS TO CHICAGO

the starting of Rood, who can achieve great heights, is deemed a certainty.

The chief disappointment aside from the failure of Bush and Warneke to check the Yankee sluggers has been the impotency at bat of Kiki Cuyler and Jim Moore, two of the outfielders, who were expected to carry the heavy loads in the Cubs' offensive. Stephenson, with his .556 average, and Hartnett and Herman have been powerful factors in the Cubs' attack, but there has been none of the sustained offensive that marked the teams' National League campaign.

Chicago is praying that Root, with the wile and guile of a veteran pitcher, will be able to dispell the bases-on-balls bugaboo that has plagued the Chicago pitching from the outset of the series. More than any one factor, untimely walks undermined that Cubs' defense with the unsteadiness of Bush and Warneke contributing directly to their defeats in the first games in New York.

The series odds underwent a sharp revision after the Yankees' second victory with the wagering now reported at 7 to 5 that the Yankees will win the series in four straight games. It is ten to one now on the Yankees to win the series, the greatest odds in world series history after only two games have gone into the records.

PERFECT BASEBALL WEATHER PROMISED FOR THIRD BATTLE

Disappointed Cubs Greeted by 3,000 Fans; Root and Pipgras Pitching Choices for Third Game of Classic Today.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (A.P.)—Charlie Grimm led his weary Cubs back to their happy hunting grounds of baseball today, but the homecoming had the aspect of a good man's funeral.

More than 3,000 fans, half of whom stayed to gaze in awe on the thundering Yankees as their special train rolled in an hour later, turned out at LaSalle street station to greet their heroes, but when the time came for a demonstration, the crowd was silent except for a few shouts of cheer from the never-say-die brigade of bleacherites.

One humorist did draw one big laugh from Manager Grimm by shouting:

"Cheer up, Charlie. You beat those Yanks back home by an hour, didn't you?"

Cubs Make No Effort to Hide Disappointment.

None of the Cubs, with the exception of President William L. Veeck, attempted to hide his disappointment over the loss of two straight world series games against the house of Ruth. They waived aside requests to pose for photographers and marched through a silent line of thousands to their waiting taxicabs. En route, through a lane of several thousand up LaSalle street, they were in direct contrast to the happy team that received the cheers of more than 100,000 fans last week after clinching the National League pennant. All of them went direct to their hotels or city apartments to escape the crowd.

As the remaining crowd of approximately 1,500 gazed in awe on the team that had walloped their Cubs in both world series starts, the Yanks were strangely silent as they arrived. Manager Joe McCarthy and Coach Jimmy Burke were cornered for a minute by the surging fans but escaped with a hurried handclasp here and there. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig gave the crowd the duck by leaving via the elevator.

Crowd of 56,000 May Be on Hand.

With a promise of perfect baseball weather, a crowd of 50,000 to 55,000 was certain for tomorrow's third game of the series at Wrigley Field. The supply of box seats, sold in strips for three games at Wrigley Field, was exhausted and only a few hundred grand stand seats in the far corners were available. A supply of 13,500 bleacher seats and 2,500 tickets for standing room will be offered for sale on the first come-first served basis tomorrow and if all are sold, together with the remaining grand stand seats, it will be a sell-out at approximately 56,000.

However, the ticket scalpers felt uncomfortable tonight as they checked up their pasteboard supply. Many of them were so generous that they offered $6.60 box seats for just $6.60 and grand stand perches for $5.50, the original price. Some hoped to get out as a last resort by selling them individually for each game instead of in strips.

No one knows how sad and gloomy the Cubs would have been as they came home today if it hadn't been for the broad grin and antics of Joe E. Brown, the film comedian. Always a staunch Cub fan and a perennial "rookie" at the spring training camp at Catalina Island, Calif., Joe joined the Cubs in New York and tried to promote laughs all the way back.

Joe will be out on the sidelines tomorrow and promises to fire right back at Babe Ruth if the Bambino starts "riding" the Cubs. Confidentially, Ruth stole the Cubs' goat in New York with his sallies on their world series cut, referring to Grimm as "Big-hearted Charlie" and so on because the Bruins left their former pilot, Rogers Hornsby, out of the cut and gave Mark Koenig only a half share.

Tomorrow the Cubs will depend on Charley Root to pitch them back into the running. George Pipgras goes for the Yankees.

Londos Is "Dethroned" By N. Y. Commission

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.)—The New York State Athletic Commission today definitely relieved Jim Londos of Greece, of the heavyweight wrestling championship he held in this State and placed him on the ineligible list.

The commission's action was the result of Londos' alleged refusal to meet Ed (Strangler) Lewis, of Los Angeles.

The commission ordered Ray Steele and Jack Sherry to meet in Madison Square Garden October 10, the winner to face Lewis on October 31. The survivor of these two matches will be recognized in New York State as champion.

CANRON LEADS FROM START IN HAVRE DE GRACE FEATURE

Filly Scores In Fast Time

Aegis Second, With Swatter Third to Cross Finish.

Laughing Queen Is Early Challenge. But Folds Up.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 30.—Canron, one of the stars of the W. W. Vaughan string, turned in one of her copyrighted races here today to account for the Frederick Purse, the day's outstanding race on the program of the Harford Association.

Little Canron loves to run in front and when the experienced Jockey Jimmy McCoy broke the 3-year-old daughter on top of the field she answered by setting her own pace, hot footing it around the course to a well-earned victory. A length and a half back, was Aegis, something of a speedster in his own right, while about the same margin found Swatter third. A field of six accepted the issue.

Laughing Queen Folds.

Laughing Queen gave Canron some trouble in the early running, but the ultimate winner shook her off and then had speed enough to take care of Aegis when the latter threatened in the stretch run. Swatter made a move rounding the turn for home, but went wide. The others were not serious contenders.

The long shot players, a few of them, had their innings in the sixth race, when All Rowes, with Danny Meade up, defeated Boscobel and others, to pay off at a $120.40 mutuel.

Red Run, the favorite, graduated from the maiden ranks in the opener, with Flora Canter second and Sudie B. third.

Protractor won and defeated Pancho Lopez, Vishnu and other sprinters in the secondary feature. Kate, Totem and The Doctor were the others to annnex purses.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RED RUN, $4.30, $3.30, $3.00; FLORA CANTER, $11.20, $6.30; SUDIE B., $11.80.

RED RUN, hustled to the front and showing good speed, shook off repeated early efforts from FLORA CANTER and drew out stoutly in the final furlong. FLORA CANTER, breaking from the extreme outside, raced close up early, but faltered during the final furlong. SUDIE B. showed a good turn of speed while racing wide. BRIAR BLUE secured racing room on the outside in the final half mile and closed willingly. CHROMIUM improved her position steadily, but could not menace the leaders. TOWN SQUARE had a rough trip. She was badly blocked midway of the turn. RUSTIC LADY tired. ROCK SUN broke slowly and was never a factor.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—KATE, $25.40, $7.20, $5.30; ALGERIA, $3.30, $2.80; LEI, $3.00.

KATE, displaying good speed, went into an easy lead directly after the start, saved ground and; holding on stoutly, outstayed ALGERIA. Latter, following close up on the outside, was placed to punishment when reaching the home stretch, but could not make up any ground. LEI, slow to break, ran very stoutly and finished in determined fashion. FAIR IMAGE went forwardly and had no excuses. ESPINETTA circled her company to close with good courage. VOLWOOD went evenly throughout.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won handily; place, easily. Went to post at 3:25. Off at 3:26½. Winner, D. A. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TOTEM, $4.50, $3.20, $2.80; BIDE A WEE, $5.90, $4.50; VANDAL (field), $9.70.

TOTEM, under steadying restraint while rated in close pursuit of the leaders, took command with a short effort when entering the home stretch, and had enough in reserve to withstand BIDE A WEE. Latter, going in her best form, gained stoutly in the final half mile and finished gamely. VANDAL raced IMA QUEEN into defeat in the first six furlongs, but was unable to stay with the first two when challenged. KLIP DRIFT, in close quarters going to the first turn, and far back, worked his way up stoutly in the final half mile. IMA QUEEN tired when put to a drive.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:58. Off at 4:00. Winner, L. Perry's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PROTRACTOR, $7.90, $4.40, $3.10; PANCHO LOPEZ, $5.80, $5.00; VISHNU, $3.00.

PROTRACTOR, apprentice allowance claimed, outran PANCHO LOPEZ in the early stages, moved up smoothly when straightened into the home stretch, and wore the pacemaker down inside the final furlong. VISHNU, taken up with the break and poorly ridden while under stiff reserve in last position, came through between his field during the stretch run and closed stoutly at the end. He appeared best. LADFIELD, forced to race on the outside throughout, made up some ground. DUSTEMOFF was outrun. WISE COUNT weakened early.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500; allowances. The Frederick. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:30. Off at 4:33. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CANRON, $5.60, $3.10, $2.40; AEGIS, $3.10, $2.50; SWATTER, $3.00.

CANRON, going into command at once, went along on her own courage for the first six furlongs, drew clear when ready during the stretch run, and held AEGIS perfectly safe. AEGIS, kept in near attendance of CANRON and LAUGHING QUEEN early, made a brief threat midway of the final elbow, but could not threaten the winner approaching the finish. SWATTER, a factor the entire trip, held on well in the closing drive. LAUGHING QUEEN fell back after five furlongs.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:05. Off at 5:08. Winner, K. E. Hitt's ch. g. ALL ROWES, going well placed, and in her best form, reached the leaders with a rush when entering the home stretch, opened up a winning lead and had something in reserve at the end. BOSCOBEL, forcing a fast pace from the start, raced FRENCH HONEY into submission, but faltered from her early efforts when the final drive came. UNENCUMBERED, rated close to the leaders, was allowed to go very wide into the home stretch, and was tiring steadily at the end. IMPEACH was racing strongly at the finish. MISS CORINNE raced well up, but was not good enough. MARCASITE was shuffled back going to the first turn. WESTY'S FOX tired.

Late Stock Rally Reduces Early Losses to Fraction

Steels and Other Leaders Gain Slightly in Sale of 1,144,720 Shares.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Trading in stocks today conformed closely to recent patterns. The market was very dull; it dipped in the morning, ruled lower until the last hour, and then improved enough to cancel most of its moderate losses. Sales totaled 1,144,720 shares.

The range of fluctuations in shares was narrow at the worst, few leaders were off more than a point and with the market getting progressively duller on this insignificant dip, shorts apparently decided to retreat. Late improvement was helped by strength in Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred.

Net changes were nominal in most so-called pivotal issues. United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Electric, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Montgomery Ward, Sears-Roebuck, Case, Harvester, American Telephone, Standard of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio were up slightly, while Allied Chemical, Santa Fe, Kennecott, American Tobacco B, National Biscuit and Public Service of New Jersey were mildly reactionary.

The Nickel Plate situation was still obscure during market hours, a fact which may have tended to curtail activity. Weekly banking statistics were interpreted as evidence of increasing financial stamina, since commercial banks are being put in a position that will facilitate lending.

Weekly trade reviews said recent improvement was being held, although Bradstreet's pointed out that such problems as "high tariffs, war debts, excess producing capacity, remaining unsolved we are not going to rush to recovery." Nevertheless, it added, "there are many indications that we are slowly making progress toward sound betterment." Dun's said gains had been extended to both the industrial and distributive divisions of trade, although improvement in the former is "less conspicuous" than in the latter.

BONDS CONTINUE SAG DESPITE SOME GAINS

Extreme Dullness Marks One-Tenth Loss in Sale of $8,136,000.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Rallies in some foreign issues and the continued firmness of high-grade domestic loans were the features of today's bond market.

The session was marked by extreme dullness at times, and second-grade bonds were highly irregular. Sales totaled only $8,136,000, par value, and the average for 60 corporate securities lost one-tenth of a point.

New 1932 highs were recorded by Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s, Investors Equity 5s, Kansas Gas 4½s, Long Island general 4s, New England Telephone 5s, Pacific Telephone first 5s and Union Pacific first 4s. While most of these advances were fractional, the Union Pacific issue gained 4¼ points.

At the same time there were numerous losses of a point or more among some loans of Allegheny Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Central Pacific, Chesapeake Corporation, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Goodrich Co., Erie, Hudson Coal, International Telephone, Missouri Pacific, U. S. Rubber, Utility Power & Light, Paramount Publix and Texas Corporation.

Nickel Plate issues rallied around 3 points, following permission granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the road to issue $20,000,000 in promissory notes to refund the 6 per cent maturity due tomorrow. There was considerable uncertainty late today, however, regarding the refinancing proposal.

While most of the oils eased, Shell Union bonds recovered 2 points of their yesterday's losses.

The Brazilians and Germans led an upturn in the foreign group. Sao Paulo State 7s and 8s advanced about 4 points on reports that the revolution was nearing an end. The Reich issues were heavily traded for gains of a point or more. The Argentines also rallied briskly.

The United States Government section was quiet and fairly steady.

England's Finances Improve In First Six Months of 1932

London, Sept. 30 (U.P.).—Improvement in England's financial position was reflected tonight in the national accounts, which closed the first six months of the current fiscal year with a budget deficit of 104,108,465 pounds, against 118,176,655 pounds a year ago.

Receipts during the six months were 268,528,308 pounds, and expenditures 372,636,773 pounds, compared with receipts of 283,466,442 and expenditures of 381,643,097 pounds during the corresponding period of last year.

Chancellor of the Exechequer Neville Chamberlain's budget estimate for the year ending next March 31 calls for receipts of 766,800,000 pounds and expenditures of 766,004,000 pounds.

While results for the half year are better than last year, it was pointed out that but for additional taxation and drastic economies effected by the second budget on September 10, 1931, it was estimated the last financial year would have ended with a deficit of at least 74,000,000 pounds.

Economies of 35,700,000 pounds and additional taxation estimated to yield 40,500,000 in the half year were not effective until September 10, therefore had little effect on last year's semiannual figures.

Tonight's figures fail to prove conclusively that a second budget will not be necessary this year, it was pointed out. Chancellor of the Exchequer Chamberlain probably will await further indications before reaching a decision whether any adjustments will be necessary to make both ends meet next March 31.

Annapolis Power Company Is Sold

Chesapeake Bay Concern, in Receivership, Bought by Consolidated Gas.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 30.—The Consolidated Gas Electric Light & Power Co. today purchased the Annapolis & Chesapeake Bay Power Co., now operating in receivership, at a bid of $1,900,000. The purchaser, however, must assume the outstanding mortgage and other indebtedness, which will bring the total price to $3,373,000. The Consolidated's bid was the only offer made. It was offered personally by Herbert A. Wagner, president of the company.

The power company is a subsidiary of the Washington, Baltimore & Annapolis Electric Railways. Both corporations have been in receivership for about two years. The power company was first offered for sale last July by Albert G. Towers, receiver, at a minimum price of $2,294,900, which, with indebtedness, brought the grand total to approximately $3,750,000. No bids were offered at that time, so today's sale was authorized by an order of Judge William C. Coleman in the Federal court at Baltimore.

The power company holds franchises in Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, Montgomery, Calvert and Howard Counties. The property includes the general distribution system and franchises in those counties, transmission lines from Annapolis Junction to Savage Mills, and another line from Naval Academy Junction to Annapolis Junction. The sale must be ratified by the Public Service Commission of Maryland, and the Federal court, which has held jurisdiction over the company, before it becomes final.

U. S. TREASURY RECEIPTS.

(Associated Press.)

Treasury receipts for September 28 were $104,652,967.68; expenditures, $106,075,922.73; balance, $868,104,909.10. Customs duties for 28 days of September were $23,398,958.50.

Fifth Area Trade Gains, Bank Says

Federal Reserve Report Shows Upturn in Farm and Textile Lines.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 30 (A.P.).—"More than a mere seasonal "rise" in several barometers of trade in the Fifth Federal Reserve District in August were noted today by the Federal Reserve Bank here in its monthly review of credit, business and agricultural conditions. Some seasonal increases were reported in several special lines, the analysis said, although there was no marked increase in the total volume of business transacted in the District during the month.

Definite improvement in nearly all classes of business was reported from the Carolinas, where cotton and tobacco play a more important part than in other sections of the district. Among the bright spots in the picture for the district as a whole the bank reported: "The textile business improved more than any other industry last month, higher cotton prices as a result of a much smaller crop than in recent years having stimulated buying of textiles quite materially.

Cotton consumption increased more than seasonally in August. Mills took on some additional employes and orders were received in sufficient volumes to run the mills several weeks. Retail trade as reflected in department stores, in spite of very unfavorable weather for early fall trade, was up to seasonal level, and wholesale trade showed seasonal gains in all lines for which data was available.

CURB LOSSES SLIGHT IN HEAVIER TRADING

Professional Selling Marks Session in Sales of 170,000 Shares.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—The curb market today spent most of the session backing and filling. Price changes at the close were irregular, small net declines exceeding gains. Sales totaled 170,000 shares against 160,000 yesterday.

Lacking any special incentive to encourage either buying or selling, traders assumed a passive role. There was some scattered buying of utility stocks, but activity was again predominantly professional.

Electric Bond & Share closed with a fractional gain. American Gas & Electric was off a point. United Light & Power A, Cities Service and American Superpower were steady.

Although the oils companies are now facing a period of seasonal ebb in gasoline sales, shares in that group were again steady.

The Kentucky stock closed unchanged. Standard of Indiana was off a scant fraction. Gulf was up nearly a point.

Newmont Mining lost more than a point of its recent gain in quiet dealings. Ford of Canada A was down a fraction. After yielding about 3 points earlier in the day, Aluminum Co. recovered most of its loss and closed down a fraction.

GOLD MOVEMENT.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—A shipment of $1,260,000 gold from India to the United States was shown in today's Federal Reserve Bank gold statement, which recorded an increase for the day of $2,531,000 in the Nation's monetary gold stocks.

The Indian shipment was believed to presage further arrivals of metal from that country. Heretofore practically Indian gold had been going to London, but this country is now receiving an increased portion.

Other imports were $350,000 from England, $19,400 from Mexico and $10,000 from Switzerland. Gain through release from earmark for foreign account was $901,500.

WHEAT VALUES DROP ON CANADIAN SLUMP

Winnipeg Prices Sink Lowest for All Time; Other Grains Decline.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Shattering of the all-time low price record for Canadian wheat jolted the entire grain list downward in Chicago today.

Reports that selling pressure of Canadian wheat abroad at cheaper prices had been augmented did much to offset assertions that the peak of the rural marketing movement in Canada was past. Leading unofficial authorities estimated that 140,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat has been marketed in the prairie provinces since August 1, compared with 85,000,000 a year ago.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¼ to ½ under yesterday's finish; corn, unchanged to ⅛ lower; oats, unchanged to ⅛ to ¼ off, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

Lowest Prices of Day.

Lowest prices of the day in the Chicago wheat pit came quickly when the Winnipeg market tumbled to 49 cents a bushel for October contracts, outdoing new record bottom figures not yet 24 hours old. At this stage, however, good buying developed in Chicago at around 53 cents for December and 58 cents for May. A steadying influence in later trading was announcement that a reduction of Canadian crop estimates appeared likely because of disappointing threshing returns.

A good deal of notice was taken, too, of assertions that regardless of how much wheat was in sight, prices were abnormally low, and that United States primary receipts since July 1 had been but little more than half of the total in the same period last year. On the other hand, Canadian country marketings were 4,279,000 bushels yesterday, against 1,584,000 a year ago. Latest advices said the new wheat crop in Argentina was making good progress.

All deliveries of corn and deferred deliveries of oats sold at new low price records for the season. September corn was the lowest since 1896. Big receipts of corn here acted as a weight on values, despite talk that 80,000 bushels of United States mixed corn had been taken for shipment overseas.

Provisions averaged lower with hog values and cereals.

Cotton Prices Rise On Trade's Buying

December Closes at 7.22 in 27-to-46-Point Advance; Liverpool Buys.

New York, Sept. 30 (A.P.).—Yesterday's declines were almost entirely recovered in the cotton market today on increased trade buying and covering which sent the price of December contracts up to 7.26 in the late trading or 38 points net higher.

That delivery closed at 7.22, with the general market closing strong at net advances of 27 to 46 points.

The opening was 8 to 15 points higher on relatively firm Liverpool cables and prospects for renewed rains in the Southwest.

Prices sagged back to about or within a couple of points of yesterday's closing quotations, then rebounded sharply on covering and trade buying with March selling up to 7.41 in the late trading. Closing quotations were slightly off from the best under realising.

Liverpool cables said that hedging and liquidation had been absorbed by trade calling in that market and reported a fair demand for cotton cloth from India and South America with British home trade improving.

Exports today, 44,794, making 1,108,287 so far this season. Port receipts, 110,737. U. S. port stocks, 3,661,587.

MORRIS BANKS SEE FUTURE PROSPERITY

Baltimore President Tells Convention Here Group Conquers Depression.

Addressing yesterday's session of the convention of the Morris Plan Bankers' Association at the Shoreham Hotel, Robert O. Bonnell, president, Morris Plan Bank of Baltimore, said "No group of financial institutions has the right to feel more optimistic about the future than Morris Plan Banks. They have withstood the assault of the depression with courage and fortitude and emerged untarnished and unstained."

Mr. Bonnell stated that no bank had found it necessary to seek Federal aid nor had any investor ever lost one dollar of principal or interest.

"The Morris Plan Bank of the future, as I see it," he said, "should, if possible, operate under the uniform Federal law; be supervised by Federal authorities, and be granted rediscount facilities by the Federal Reserve Banks.

"It should be required to maintain certain reserves and should have, insofar as possible, uniform methods and standards of operation."

The speaker closed his address with advice to the banks to select the most competent personnel available. "The last two years have demonstrated," he said, "that bankers should be more than handshakers. They need more than personality and acquaintanceship. They must be seasoned by experience. There must be a balanced conception of a bank's obligation to its depositors, stockholders and the community. Capacities must be demonstrated, rather than talked about."

Proposed Sugar Rates Reduction Suspended

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday suspended proposed reductions of freight rates on sugar in carloads from New Orleans, Mobile, Jacksonville, Savannah and other south Atlantic and gulf ports to destinations in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, Iowa and intermediate points.

The railroads proposed the reductions to meet water rates. The cuts would have ranged from 17 to 26 cents from New Orleans and 17 to 28 cents from Savannah, with minimum carload weights under the carload rate from 60,000 to 80,000 pounds.

Farm Equipment Exports Increase

August Shipments Gain 34 Per Cent to $1,883,944.

(Associated Press.)

Exports of farm equipment from the United States in August showed a gain of 34 per cent over July and were the largest monthly shipments since March.

The Commerce Department said yesterday, in placing a total value of $1,883,944 on the August exports, that industrial machinery exports as a whole last month were valued the same as the July $4,200,000 total. Exports of sewing machines in the month almost doubled the number in July, being valued at $142,000.

During the second quarter of the year the United States held its own in the British market, supplying 18 per cent of the total British imports from non-British countries. The total compared with 18 per cent in the first quarter and 16 per cent in the second quarter of 1931.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

10-1-32.

THE National League's "greatest losing streak" in world's series ball games began with the championship playoff in 1927 and continued through the series of 1929, with Guy Bush, of the Chicago Cubs, the only National League pitcher in three years to win a game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates went down four straight before the New York Yankees in 1927. The Yanks repeated a four-game victory in 1928 over the St. Louis Cards. In 1929 the Philadelphia Athletics, winners of the American League pennant race, took four out of five games from the Cubs. The only game won by the Cubs was that pitched by Bush against Earnshaw.

In the world series of 1927 and 1928 the Yanks set an all time winning record of eight consecutive games, to win two world's championships.

The little community of North Corner is located in North and South Carolina. The church there is built across the State boundary, with the front of the building in South Carolina. The State line divides the church a few inches in front of the pulpit.

To preach to his congregation the pastor leaves the State in which his flock is seated, and mounts his pulpit in North Carolina—delivering his sermon across the State line.

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. JOHN HIX.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

P. U. C. DENOUNCES RENTAL CAB FIRMS AS EXPLOITING MEN

Issues Statement Obviously Aimed at People's Counsel Keech.

Following up the policy it inaugurated early this week with a typewritten blast at the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., the Public Utilities Commission yesterday issued another statement, this one more denunciatory than the first, on the rental cab controversy.

While mentioning no names, the commission's document obviously was directed at People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech, who has been at loggerheads with the utilities body on the whole taxicab problem since the initial attempt of the commission to abolish the zone system. Mr. Keech recently, in answer to reporters' queries, had expressed the opinion that both the taxi driver and the public would suffer from the commission's efforts to enforce the anti-rental ban in its taxicab order.

Charges Labor Exploited.

The commission statement denounces the rental cab companies for "exploiting labor" and charges that they "fatten upon the meager earnings of those who rent their vehicles." On the other hand, it asserts that the taxi drivers who were prosecuted in Police Court were actually not punished. Several were released on personal bond, it explains, and the "nominal fines" of others "it is known were paid by the so-called cab companies."

Explaining for the first time its plan of campaign against the rental cab companies, the commission says:

"Where convictions are secured and the driver has plainly violated the commission's orders and is still being mulcted by those rental companies under one plan or another, this commission proposes to ask to have the license of the particular vehicle revoked. Unfortunately, this seems to be the only way in which the rental companies can be reached."

Roberts' Statement.

The commission does not explain that its special counsel, William A. Roberts, only this week apparently came to an agreement with the former leader of the rental cab companies, the City Cab Corporation, regarding a scheme of operation that would meet the commission's order. The commission, however, had intended to issue its statement before this agreement was reached.

Five Indictments Charge Murder in First Degree

The District grand jury yesterday indicted four colored men and one colored woman on charges of first-degree murder. Those indicted were Butler Settles, Luther B. Spencer, Viola B. Clay, Lawrence King and Sydney Cotton.

The Clay woman is alleged to have thrown a lighted lamp at Arthur Scott, colored, last August. The lamp struck Scott, ignited his clothing and he burned to death. The other indictments were for stabbings or shootings.

FORMER POLICEMAN HELD IN HIJACKING

E. A. Mumper Ordered Removed to Baltimore by Commissioner After Hearing.

Positively identified by a dry agent who was kidnaped in a hijacking in Southern Maryland Sunday, Edwin A. Mumper, a former Washington policeman, was yesterday ordered removed to Baltimore although he offered U. S. Commissioner Needham C. Turnage an alibi.

According to Agent John B. Beall, Mumper was the man who searched him and took his gun when four-teen men held up four dry agents and took a load of liquor from them. Two other agents said that Mumper resembled one of the hijackers. After the hearing, Denny Hughes, attorney for Mumper, asked that his removal be postponed until next week, and this request was granted.

Mumper told Mr. Turnage that he was on his farm in Beltsville Saturday, the day before the holdup, and came to Washington that afternoon. He went to bed at 11 o'clock at night, he said, and slept until 7:30 Sunday morning. This statement was corroborated by his wife and daughter.

The hijacking occurred about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Turnage said that his hearing was only to establish the fact that Mumper was the man named in the warrant issued in Baltimore, and returned him to jail in bond of $30,000.

Mt. Rainier W. C. T. U. Will Serve Ice Water

True to its principles, the Mount Rainier-Brentwood Women's Christian Temperance Union will purvey ice water during the celebration of Mount Rainier's new paving program on October 15, the union has informed the celebration committee.

A stand will be erected on Rhode Island avenue, along which the parade will pass, for the alleviation of the thirsty. Gov. Albert C. Ritchie has promised to attend the celebration if other engagements permit.

New York Avenue Station Permitted After Widening of Street.

After the District Commissioners had agreed to the widening of New York avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, on the condition that the Greyhound Bus Lines would bear half the expense, the Public Utilities Commission late yesterday issued a formal order granting the Greyhound permission to establish a terminal at 1403-11 New York avenue.

The order carries two conditions, which the Greyhound will meet, viz, that between 8:15 and 9:15 a. m. only one inbound and two outbound buses and between 4:15 and 5:15 p. m. only two inbound and three outbound buses will be permitted to operate to and from the terminal. The order becomes effective immediately.

A quick decision to widen New York avenue by pushing back the north curb line 8 feet was reached yesterday morning at a conference between District and Greyhound officials. The action had been recommended by the commission. In all street widening cases the District government pays half the cost and the adjacent property owners usually pay the other half.

The order takes a slap at Director of Traffic William A. Van Duzer, who, at the recent hearing, expressed the opinion that the terminal would not cause an undue congestion. The commission explains that the Greyhound Lines intend to increase the number of buses in operation eventually, and then adds:

"Any such additional number of buses would, of course, increase the density of traffic more than contemplated by the Director of Vehicles and Traffic in his testimony."

Mother and Baby Hurt As Truck Hits Auto

Two members of a family, one a 26-month-old infant, were injured yesterday when the automobile of Howard R. Morse, 28 years old, of 1252 Sixth street southwest, was in collision with a truck operated by Joseph A. Carr, colored, 63 years old, of 924 R street northwest, at Sixteenth street and Spring place northwest.

Mrs. Ella Morse, 26 years old, and her infant daughter, Evelyn, were treated at Walter Reed Hospital for lacerations and bruises on the head and body. Neither Mr. Morse nor the driver of the truck were hurt.

WESTERN HIGH FIELD IS HUB OF CEREMONY

School's Athletic Stadium Is Dedicated; Football Game Played.

Offering moral support to sport and cadet activities, Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, yesterday extended congratulations to students and faculty of the Western High School at dedication exercises of the new athletic field.

Stephen Kramer, assistant superintendent of the school system, and other school officials addressed the assembled students, who later filed into the new field to witness the initiation of the athletic stadium with the first gridiron battle of their team, which opposed St. Alban's.

A bronze plaque honoring the late Dr. S. Duncan Bradley, one of the first graduates of Western High School and who was an ardent worker for the interests of the institution after his graduation, was presented to his son, James B. Bradley, also a graduate of the school, at the dedication exercises. The metal tablet will be placed on the entrance of the new stadium.

Charles V. Imlay, president of the school parent-teacher association, presented the plaque to Mr. Bradley. Dr. Elmer S. Newton, principal of the school, presided at the ceremonies. Allen Davis, principal of the new Roosevelt High School, was present and addressed the assembly.

"CROONER." First National picturization of a story by Rian James, adapted to the screen by Charles Kenyon, featuring David Manners, Ann Dvorak and Ken Murray, with William Janney, Eddie Nugent, J. Carroll Naish, Teddy Joyce and William Ricciardi. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

So that's how crooners were born!

I mean to say that in this subject the possible genesis of the sotto voce type of night club and radio vocalist is made reasonably plausible and distinctly interesting. The process of evolution from an ambitious collegiate to a popular idol, riding the crest of the wave, both financially and socially, is given a sound foundation of wholesome human interest and is leavened by a rich vein of deft and spontaneous comedy.

The central figure in the narrative is Ted Taylor, whose jazz band isn't doing so well until one try-out night in an obscure supper club when a slightly swackled dancer hands him a megaphone so that his substitute singing for the orchestra's regular soloist will penetrate beyond those grouped immediately under foot. The effect is both instantaneous and startling. He is an overnight hit, snapped up by the city's greatest press agent and promoter—in love with his girl as a major reason for his interest—and launched on his way to the most irritating case of inflated ego the world has ever seen. Knocked off his pedestal by a quick succession of explosive events that bring about a rapid and complete deflation, he comes down to earth with a thud and learns from his girl what life and being "regular" are all about.

There are, of course, numerous speedy analogies that insist upon being drawn between Ted and currently popular exponents of the most prevalent forms of night club and aerial entertainment, but the character of the young band leader, I think, does not pin itself down to any single individual in real life. It is merely typical of a racket that has been prolific in spawning a whole school of soft-voiced balladists who, each in his turn, have driven the women folks nuts and the men out into the air!

In the title role, David Manners is least effective when leading his orchestra, and obviously not doing his own singing. The out-of-time beat of his baton, fortunately, is consistently ignored by the instrumentalists it is ostensibly directing, and when Ted is megaphoning his love lyrics into eager feminine ears, Mr. Manners does not even bother to move either his lips or his esophagus—assuming that we still remember where to look for an esophagus. Otherwise, his impersonation quite encompasses the gradually growing ego of an unconscionable cad. In the opposite role, Ann Dvorak plays with some zest, but does not by any means find herself in the most fruitful of her assignments. Ken Murray, as Peter Sturgis, the prodigious publicist, turns in a performance that is uniformly excellent and nicely contrasted to the bored self-complacence of his misguided protege.

J. Carroll Naish, the night club proprietor; Guy Kibbe, in a bit as the drunk who conceived the megaphone idea, and a group of young men who impersonate the boys in the band—Teddy Joyce, former Loew master of ceremonies seen frequently at the Palace, among them—are prominent in a large and competent supporting ensemble.

On the stage, two show-stoppers halt proceedings cold in their tracks. Will Mahoney, greatest of all the hard-shoe dancers, scores decisively enough in his familiar vaudeville act, featuring "She's My Lilly," his time-honored song hit, and the funny fall that has convulsed audiences for years, but preempts all the applause in the house by adding his tap dance on the "Mahoneyphone," a handy trade name for his footwork on the xylophone—begging your pardon for the bull! Just ahead of Mr. Mahoney on the bill, Gracie Barrie, the charming little songtress held over from last week, strengthens her hold upon Washington audiences as a young artiste of rare endowment by singing a group of sterling numbers in her own inimitable fashion. Purely by coincidence she is using two of the numbers also being sung around the corner on F street by Morton Downey—"It Was So Beautiful" and "Say It Isn't So."

Others introduced by Miss Maxine Doyle, arrayed in customary splendor, include Maurice Colleano and his acrobatic family in a combination of song, dance, comedy and gymnasticism of the first water; the Radio Rubes, a vocal and instrumental male quartet, who do imitations and "sound effects" in the bucolic manner, and Paul Nolan and Co., in feats of juggling.

The Universal News, a Looney Tunes cartoon comedy and Freddie Clark's orchestra complete a bill that scored heavily with the pewholders.

LOEW'S FOX

"PACK UP YOUR TROUBLES." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a story exploiting Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, supported by Donald Dilloway, Mary Carr, James Finlayson and little Jacqui Lyn. Directed by George Marshall and Raymond McCarey. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

When Mr. Morton Downey sings, he sings, and when he sings, they listen. But when Mr. Morton Downey ceases singing, they tear down the house.

This was demonstrated to the complete satisfaction of Manager Drissel and his staff at yesterday afternoon's first performance, when it figured well within the probabilities that the capacity audience would demolish the theater before the management could plow through Mr. Downey's ovation with the rest of the program planned for the current week at Loew's Fox.

There is no poise or pretense about this most popular of the radio tenors. He pops out upon the stage with a microphone in his hand, plants it on the stage, and himself in front of it, and the riot is on!

Proceeding to a constantly mounting thunder of applause, Mr. Downey yesterday sang "It Was So Beautiful," "The Voice in the Old Village Choir," interpolating Nevin's "Rosary," "Shantytown," "Say It Isn't So" and an Irish ditty that sounded as if it should be spelled, "Toora, Loora, Loo." These were executed in fine voice—scratched a bit now and again by an imperfect amplifying apparatus—fine presence and to overwhelming effect. The audience never lets Morton Downey get through. His act is concluded only when he determines to sing no more. The applause goes on for days after that!

Enthusiasm was rife in the Fox all yesterday afternoon, as a matter of fact. Laurel and Hardy in "Pack Your Troubles," rather the best of their feature-length productions, kept the house in an uproar from the moment they were nabbed by the recruiting officers until the rich Banker Smith's chef, an old enemy from their days of kitchen police, chased them through the front door one swish ahead of his sharpest carving knife!

In this subject the most rotund and leanest of the comics have a vehicle that moves with the speed and fun of the best of their short-reel releases, the while it unfolds a story that is not without its moments of sober interest and occasional flashes of pathos. It is a real story of two doughboys with a joint genius for getting into trouble, who attempt to find the parents of a buddy killed at the front in order that they may restore his daughter to them. The search for the missing Smiths is in itself an ample source of amusement, but it is richly embellished with other touches no less direct in their appeal to the risibilities. To me, the funniest bit in the picture is where little Jacqui Lyn, one of the most precocious of the baby actresses, puts Stan Laurel to sleep with her bed-time story of the adventures of Little Red Ridinghood! However, the piece is so peppered with laughable incidents and crazy gags that one's taste is as good as another's, and all are satisfied.

The vaudeville bill, headlined by Mr. Downey, also includes Bob Ripa, most remarkable of the jugglers seen in Washington to date; Cass, Mack and Owen, a familiar team of dancing acrobats with a girl added—and whatta girl! — Manny Besser and Dorothy Balfour, in songs, dances and snappy crossfires, and Lew Pollack, the song writer, supported by a numerous and talented company in a revuelet of individually clever specialties that somehow seem to lack cohesiveness and, therefore, fall short of any unified effect.

A magic carpet tour of New York, under the title of "Manhattan Medley;" the Fox Movietone News and the orchestra's spirited rendition of Von Suppe's "Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna" overture, under the vigorous baton of Phil Lampkin, augment a light, variegated and diverting bill.

METROPOLITAN

"A SUCCESSFUL CALAMITY." Warner Brothers picturization of the play by Clare Kummer, starring George Arliss, supported by Mary Astor, Evelyn Knapp, William Janney and Grant Mitchell. Directed by John Adolfi. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Mr. George Arliss . . .

This review might just as well stop right there, for little that may be said can add to the reputation or appeal of this stellar personality, the sheer artistry and craftsmanship of whose work have justly earned him a place in the hearts of the theater-going public—that of the cinema no less than of the flesh-and-blood theater—attained by few others.

In "A Successful Calamity," as in all his other pictures, it is he alone who dominates every scene and, even in those in which he does not appear, the aura of the man infiltrates the set and inspires the supporting cast to extraordinary accomplishment.

Clare Kummer's play of the man who feigned bankruptcy to bring his family back to normalcy from its orgy of extravagance, offers Mr. Arliss an excellent opportunity to combine those elements already presented in "Old English" and "The Millionaire." Here Mr. Arliss is the same kindly, lovable financier whose sagacity is no less acute in matters domestic than in the realm of higher finance.

But George Arliss is George Arliss, with no other star in the cinematic firmament even approaching his mastery of histrionics. His is an appeal that must be felt rather than written about, an appeal that is too firmly ingrained in theater-goers' memory of beloved actors to need elaboration.

To omit mention of the other meritorious members of the cast would be to slight a series of excellent delineations. It is not that they are less effective in their respective parts, but rather that that of Mr. Arliss is so completely dominant that all else pales in comparison. However, Mary Astor, as the wife; Evalyn Knapp and William Janney, as the children; David Torrence, as the opposing financier, and Grant Mitchell, as the gentleman's gentleman, give Mr. Arliss most able support and are only slightly more important than the ten others who appear.

The feature is framed by "Tee for Two," an amusing sports revuelet, with Franklin Pangborn and Esther Howard; "Babe o' Mine," a tribute to babyhood, and the Paramount Sound News.

LOEW'S PALACE

"KONGO." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a play by Leon Gordon, featuring Walter Huston, Lupe Velez, Conrad Nagel and Virginia Bruce. Directed by William Cowen. Reviewed Friday night by Robert M. Miller.

Your knees will shake and you'll have an "all gone" feeling after this picture, and that's a big tribute to anybody's acting. It is tense and the action never lags, and the sound effects that did so much for "Trader Horn" are again in evidence.

"Kongo" is a story of vengeance in the Poe manner, the vengeance of Flint for Gregg. And an heinous revenge it is, too. Planned for years, it is directed toward Gregg's daughter, Ann, whose mother was Flint's wife. Drunk and degraded, Ann is exposed to her father and as Flint settles back to enjoy the fulfillment of his revenge it is snatched away from him. An old, old story, done in an atmosphere that is seldom obtained in Hollywood, so what does it matter if the native headdresses are reminiscent of Philadelphia's mummers?

Walter Huston, puttied nose and scars, in the role of the crippled Flint, played originally on the screen by Lon Chaney, is a thoroughly convincing, and disgusting, madman. Not often do the ladies turn their eyes from "close-ups," but Flint is one to make them turn and squirm. His dominance over every one, save the doctor whom he likes for it, is within his own characterization and is aided only slightly by the others' fears. Lupe Velez, as the perspiring Tula, manages to keep her smile and animation even in the environment of the Kongo and Flint, and Conrad Nagel, as the doctor, is the same reliable Conrad, slightly overdoing one short scene, we thought—but then, it's a new offense for him. Virginia Bruce surprises in the character of Ann Whitehall. Her restraint is especially commendable after some of the "drunks" we've seen.

There is a comedy, "Alum and Eve," with Thelma Todd and ZaSu Pitts, who is more legs than hands this time. They wrestle through most of it, exhibiting all holds except the aeroplane spin. And then there's a "Mickey Nightmare" which really amuses and a newsreel.

It is a show for dad and the boys but mother had better finish hooking the rug.

COLUMBIA

"GOLD." Majestic Pictures Corporation flmization of a cold rush story featuring Jack Hoxie and Alice Day with Hooper Atchley, Matthew Betz and Lafe McKee. Directed by Otto Brower. Reviewed Friday evening by M. A. McKavitt.

Here is an answer to a youngster's fervent prayer for a cowboy thriller. It is charged with gun-totin', high-heel booted, sombrero-wearing bad men; a courageous blonde heroine, who is not afraid to shoot a high-powered rifle at the dastardly villain retreating from the cold-blooded killing of her hard-drinking pappy, and the giant, smiling, rough-riding cowboy hero who, after several escapes from death at the hands of a crew of sneering and cowardly crooks, succeeds in tricking his enemies by a clever ruse and finally proving his magnanimity to the girl.

The Columbia Theater has once more offered a movie that will appeal to the kiddies. Possibly the management is planning on turning the house into a kiddies' paradise featuring those pictures that appeal particularly to youth. It might not be a bad idea.

We were more interested in the excellent "added attractions" part of the bill. Some enterprising cameraman has started out early in San Francisco with the intention of showing the world a reel or two about that famous Gold Coast city and he hasn't done a bad job. It is somewhat of an impressionistic type of presentation which will prove diverting.

In the Lambs Club gambolingo we found the clever and pretty Lois Moran taking in one of that famous actor club's frolics. De Wolf Hopper is master of ceremonies. You will find it very amusing. "But," you ask, "how can a lady get into the Lambs Club?" Ah! That's a surprise!

The movie menu is completed by the exceedingly interesting and informative if not picturesque travelog, "Ports o' Call." If you want to see Hong Kong, ancient and modern, here's your chance.

And don't forget that Jack Hoxie, his white steed, "Dynamite," the cunning villain and the sheriff, with his posse, are awaiting with a few thrills.

68 Men and Women Are Under Indictment

Sixty-eight men and women were indicted yesterday by the District grand jury in bills handed to Justice Peyton Gordon in the District Supreme Court.

The charges ranged from nonsupport of minor children to first-degree murder, robbery and housebreaking. A list of those indicted is to be found in The Post's legal record.

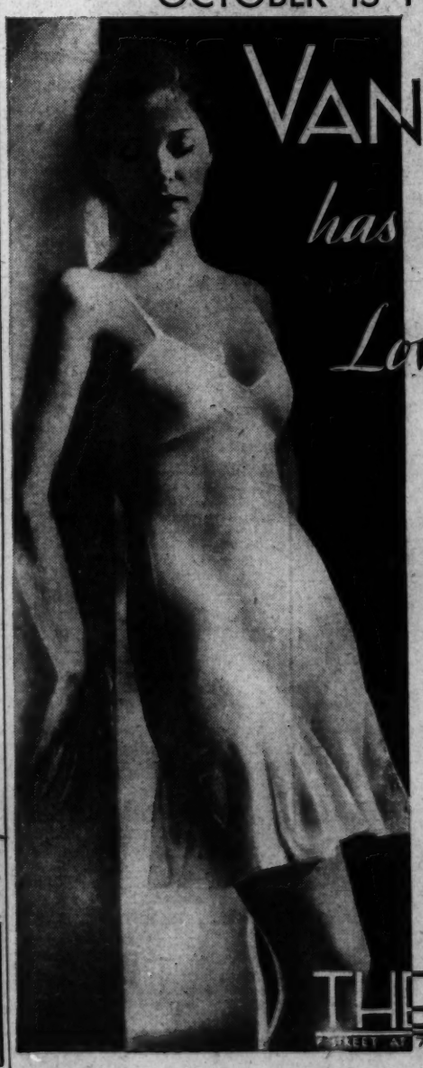
OCTOBER IS HECHT MONTH



VAN RAALTE has kept faith with women who Love Nice Things

VAN RAALTE has never forgotten that they built their reputation on QUALITY. To be sure, they dropped their prices as commodities dropped. And to satisfy the increasing demand for inexpensive things they even designed a silk-like fabric, V. R. Tex Gelanese, which they fashioned into grand garments for as little as $1.

BUT Van Raalte did more than keep faith. They improved the style of their undergarments. Taught silk to mould as well as fit the figure. Introduced a new kind of snap fastener, taped off not to rust, pull off or tear. Is it any wonder then that The Hecht Co. does a bigger business than ever in Van Raalte wear?

Step into a V. R. Tex Singlette illustrated (with garters attached), and you're ready to step into a dress. 32-38 $2.95
